THE OLD SCHOOL MASTER.

He Met an Old Time Pupil,
And The Unexpected
Happened.

The middle aged man, who was taking a quiet stroll in the outskirts of the village, was accosted by a young fellow of frank, engaging countenance.

"Isn't this Mr. Rankin?" asked the latter.

"You used to teach in the Kirkbridge schoolhouse ten or twelve years ago?"

"I did."

"Do you remember a boy named Tip Beaver that went to school to you about that time?"

"Very well."

"I suppose I have changed a good deal since then but I was that boy."

"And I am glad to see you again, Tip."

"And I am glad to see you. Do you remember that I was rather a bad boy and you had to trounce me occasionally?"

"Oh, yes, I remember that."

"Well, I generally deserved it. Do you recollect the time I stuck a bent pin in the seat when John Matthewson was standing up to recite and you saw me do it and gave me a little the best whipping a boy ever got?"

"Yes, I think I recall that circumstance."

"Well it cured me."

"I think it did. It is pleasant to recall these old."

"But I thought you whipped me a good deal harder than I deserved, and I made up my mind that when I got to be a man I'd hunt you up and give you a blamed good licking. I guess the time's come now, and you're going to get it. Shed your coat, and we'll even up old scores in about four minutes."

But here the unexpected happened.

Without stopping to shed his coat Mr. Rankin sailed into that young man. He smote him in the eye, and a straight left on his nose and doubled him up and then with a stiff uppercut on the chin scored a clean knockdown.

Then as he helped him to his feet and handed him his hat he merely said:

"Wait till you've grown some more, Tip, and if you still feel like evening up old scores hunt me up again. Good day!"—Chicago Tribune.

The Glove in History.

The glove has served many purposes, such as the award of honor, token of love, payment of service and gift of gratitude. It was once also the signal of mercy, the dropping of the royal glove before a culprit under punishment securing instantaneous release, and from early times it has also served as a challenge to deadly combat. The habit of presenting gloves was kept up even unto Puritan times and finally grew into such an extravagance that the legislature of Massachusetts took the matter up and forbade the lavish glove giving under a penalty of £20. The glove has served an important part in the world's history, and many interesting facts concerning its history could be recommended if space permitted.—London Standard.

The cattle who draw the mahogany logs in the forests of the Isthmus of Panama have to be sprayed with kerosene to destroy the parasites which are their deadly enemies.

MONUMENTAL INJUSTICE.

To Send Your Cash Away
And Ask Favors of Home Paper.

People sometimes decline to subscribe for their home paper for the reason that they already take several papers published in New York and elsewhere.

Yet those same people often ask and receive favors from the local paper, while none is received or expected from the far off journal.

When they wish to express gratitude for kindly assistance during sickness or misfortune, the local paper is asked to publish a card of thanks.

When they wish to have a supper or reception of any kind, the local paper is asked to give it a free notice.

When a public meeting is to be held for any purpose, they want the local paper to give it due publicity.

When they want their town boomed so as to increase the value of their property, they call on the local paper.

When they want a new railroad or a factory built, they expect the local paper to work for it with all its might.

When a death occurs in a home they expect the local paper to report it in a tender, sympathetic strain and to extol the virtues of the deceased.

When a birth or wedding occurs in the family, they expect the local paper to give a glowing description of the event.

When they are trying to build up churches or schools, the local paper is asked to give them good, strong puffs.

If there is a battle for right in the county or precinct, the editor is expected to bear the brunt of it. Thus people are constantly receiving favors for the local paper, but many fail to show their appreciation by subscribing for it.

Yet they cheerfully pay their subscriptions annually in advance for the New York Bazaar or the Philadelphia Barnstormer, which never did anything for them or their community.

This practice of bestowing one's patronage upon the far off journal while receiving all newspaper favors the home publication is a monumental injustice of which no decent person should be guilty.

Reader, don't come into our office and ask to publish in your interest a personal puff or a long winded obituary claiming that you are too poor to take this paper and asking for a dozen free copies while your pockets are stuffed full of story papers and magazines, paid for in advance.—Carrollton (Tex.) News.

The Man and His Guns.

Once upon a time a man made a large collection of firearms of all and nations, and was very proud of his curios. He showed them to his friends, and always assured his visitors that there was no danger in handling them for they could not go off, because they were not loaded.

The fame of his collection reached the ears of an enterprising burglar, who made a daring entry of his premises in the dead of night and despoiled him of his entire collection.

Moral: The fact of firearms being unloaded is not guarantee that they will not go off.—New York Herald.

Chattanooga had two inches of snow last week.

The Appetite of the Ostrich.

It is never safe to drop any article when walking near a covey of ostriches. The ostrich will eat anything, seeming apparently to have no sense of taste. A story is told of a young girl who was visiting a zoo where a large ostrich snatched her kid gloves, which were rolled into a ball, and ate them. The next day the girl returned with the family contribution of a half dozen pairs of gloves, all of which were as readily swallowed.

A good local paper beats the world as an advertising medium. A hand bill will attract attention by accident. The newspaper carries your message to a waiting audience. The fence rail at a corpse that can only be looked upon by a few neighbors who have to go near it. The newspaper "ad" goes in the home, it takes a place in the family circle, and talks right to the hearts of thousands of people who pay their money for just that kind of entertainment. Try the Journal.—Marjatta Journal.

Turkey meat is worth from 22 to 24 cents a pound in Boston.

The red headed News of Atlanta still continues interesting and is one of the best dailies in Georgia.

During the year there has been 3,088 post offices established in the United States and 4,059 discontinued.

A stamp of the 18-cent denomination has been provided for, to bear the portrait of the late President Harrison.

Gainesville is ahead of Atlanta now. The Eagle finds a man in its city a kin to the president of the United States.

Charles D. Snooks, a prosperous farmer, fell into a pot of boiling syrup near Savannah and was cooked alive the other day.

Hon W. J. Bryan suggests that the president appoint a negro to be postmaster in some northern republican county and watch the result.

A Chicago man who lost $3,500 rewarded the honest finder by giving him fifteen cents. Such generosity should not go unheralded throughout the land—Columbus Times.

On last Wednesday no business could be transacted in the house on account of so many members being absent causing the speaker to threaten to lock the door in order to maintain a quorum.

Wyatt, a negro preacher at Rome, Ga., was arrested on a warrant from Columbia, S. C., last week, charging him with having two living wives. He must be one of the devil's preachers.

An order was issued by Attorney General Roberts demanding an action of mandamus be brought against the commissioners of Caddo county compelling them to levy a tax for the purpose of providing separate schools there for colored children which under the laws of Oklahoma is compulsory. The supreme court has held that separate schools must be provided in each district.

Representative Steed of Carroll, has introduced a bill to abolish the offices of county school commissioners and boards of education in Georgia and the powers invested in them be transferred to the ordinaries of the various counties. This would be a great saving of money to Georgia and a benefit to many ordinaries in small counties like Lumpkin. Then they would have something to do all the time and make a decent living.

The report shows that 588 illicit distilleries have been seized during the past fiscal year in Georgia, giving her the lead and 450 people were captured by the officers. Spirits reported seized 7,945 gallons for the 593 distilleries, the value of the property being $45,115. And in criminal suits the northern district of Georgia had 864, the southern 85. Fines imposed in the northern district during the year to the amount of $18,800, and costs amounting to $15,976 were taxed against the defendants.

The War Department is about to mount the largest gun in the world, at Sandy Hook, New York harbor. When mounted it will land a projectile weighing over a ton at any place within a range of 21 miles. Its bore is 16 inches. It uses 1,000 pounds of powder for a single discharge. Stood on its branch beside a three story building it would project far enough above the roof for a chimney and lying on its side it would shield a full company of 100 soldiers. It has taken four years to build it and the cost is $136,900. It is believed that one shot from this monster would sink any vessel entering New York harbor.

The soldiers' home in Atlanta will likely get $12,500.

Congress convened Monday and all the Georgians were in their seats.

In Alabama the negro office seekers will be given a share of the government pie.

A woman in Chicago swallowed $23 the other day and now she is charged with larceny.

It costs $2,000 a month to feed the animals in the Zoological Park in the district of Columbia.

A bill has been introduced in the Virginia legislature making kissing a misdemeanor. Oh my.

The legislature committee, to inspect the college, is expected here tomorrow.

Rev. W. H. Milburn, the blind chaplain of the United States senate has resigned on account of his health.

The secretary of the treasury says it will only require $589,189,112 to run the government for the fiscal year ending June 4, 1904.

The great famine is spreading in Sweden and it is estimated that 70,000 persons are hungry. They are eating birch bark to stave off death.

Mamie DeCris, the "Diamond Queen," was arrested in Atlanta last Sunday. She had stolen much jewelry in Savannah and made a confession.

The average cost of electing a mayor in Augusta is $33,000, and her citizens desire a change in the law so as to require voters to register nine months before the election. In red hot elections votes cost from $10 to $25 a piece.

Little Billie Signal has thoroughly convinced the readers of that paper that he cannot control his own vote or else don't believe anything he writes, because the charges he has brought against sheriff Davis, according to his statement, occurred from one to three years ago. Yet he has voted for Mr. Davis three times, the last time an open ticket only two months ago. This is why no attention is paid to him, for most certainly when a writer don't believe what he says himself no one else will.

Since the Rev. Joseph Lester, of Indian Territory, lost his wife three years ago, it is stated, he has received love letters "with a view to matrimony" from no less than a thousand persons of the other sex. He now expects to publish a book containing 250 selections from the mass of letters, generously omitting the names of the writers. Whether these love letters are all genuine or not, the story tends to confirm the existing impression that women are more strongly attracted toward preachers, soldiers, and "delightfully bad" men, than toward the common herd outside of these three classes of conquerors.—Macon Telegraph.

Mr. Bains Cox was sent to the asylum from White county last week. His case has been a peculiar one, says the Cleveland Courier. About sixteen or seventeen years ago, when about 16 years of age, he became excitable, and excluded himself from company by staying hid out around home most of the time, not allowing any one that was passing to meet with him. After about two years his father died and then he confined himself to the house and shut himself up in a room, refusing to be seen by anyone except his mother and one of his sisters. He would very often slip out during the night and do mischief. He seemed to think during this time that almost everybody were his enemies. He would engage himself reading and writing. He continued in this manner for about six years when he taken to bed, where he has been for the past eight or nine years so closely that he would not move enough to permit the crumbs to be taken from under him except when he was forced to. He didn't want any light in his room or the doors opened.

Mining Notes.

The cutting of the Briar Patch ditch has commenced on the lower end by a small force of hands. The president of the Consolidated Co. is expected every day.

Van Crow and Julius Roberts began recently taking out ore on the Fishtap property.

It is raining some again as we go to press and if it continues Gen. Warner speaks of starting up Crown Mountain right away.

Messrs. Crisson, Ingersoll and Keenum's dredge boat keeps continuously at work in the Chestnut river, doing a profitable business.

Henry Roberts and one of his sons are still engaged on the Gordon property, and have recently struck a new valuable gold bearing vein.

Fate Johnson and Riley are still down on the Standard property doing well. They are both old miners and understand how to operate a gold mine so as to make it profitable.

Mr. S. A. Jones, of North Carolina, who purchased the Cavender's Creek mine in this county, some time ago, is out at the mine, who we expect, means to revivify this industry in that section soon.

Some few days ago while Bev. and Tom Johnson were looking about for a mine they found some gold bearing rock where the Standard Co. graded off the place for the Tahloneka shaft. They went to work and soon found an arm of ore believed to be worth, at least ten pennynweights to the ton. This they are at work on, and the two are taking out a ton a day.

Mr. Maxwell and others are getting in some good work down at the Lockhart mine. The lift has been in operation for several days, giving profitable results. This mine has not been worked until recently, for many years. We have often heard old miners say that the Lockhart was one of the best deep mines in this whole country, having a twelve foot vein that paid well when last worked.

John Brooksher and Louis Price are taken out some ore down at the Barlow which is said to be splendid. They are working under a sub lease from Messrs. Tregent, Sovey and Bruce. These gentlemen are continuing their operations down there with good results. They all boss and work too, when it becomes necessary and such good management as this never fails to make mining profitable here.

All persons indebted to E. E. Crisson, either by note or account, are requested to call at my store and settle, either with Mr. J. E. Wilkins or myself. Will save a cost bill by doing so. E. E. Crisson.

It rained Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, causing the water courses to swell considerably.

NOTICE.

There will be a mass meeting of the citizens of Dahlonega, held in the Court house in the City of Dahlonega, on Wednesday night, 7 o'clock, Dec. 17th, 1902, for the purpose of nominating one Alderman in each Ward of said city, to serve for 3 years from January 1, 1903. All present, entitled to vote, are earnestly requested to be present. Dec. 1, 1902.

Worry

Almost Unnerved Me—Heart Pains.

Short of Breath, Faint and Languid.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nerve Cure Me.

"It has been five years since I was cured of heart trouble by your Heart Cure and Nerve Cure. I am just as sound as a dollar and that organ today. For several years I had been suffering with heart trouble. Breathing had become short and difficult at times, sharp pains about the heart, sometimes accompanied with fluttering would make me feel faint and languid. The least excitement or mental worry would almost unnerve me. I felt that the trouble was growing worse all the time, and after trying many remedies prescribed by physicians without obtaining relief, I was induced to give your remedies a trial. I was relieved the second day, and after taking three or four bottles all symptoms were removed and have never showed signs of returning. Rev. Geo. W. KIRACOPH, Chincoteague, Va.

There are many symptoms of heart disease, which so closely resemble those of more common nervous disorders as to frequently mislead the attending physician. Others in cases of heart trouble the stomach, kidneys, liver or lungs become affected. Again the symptoms may be those of weak nerves, as tired feeling, sleeplessness, timidity, the patient is easily excitable and apt to worry without cause. If you have the least suspicion that your heart is weak study your symptoms and begin the use of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, the great heart and blood tonic, without a day's delay.

All druggists sell and guarantee first bottle Dr. Miles' Remedies. Send for free book on Nervous and Heart Diseases. Address Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, DECEMBER 4, 1902

One horse was traded there last week for a two dollar watch, both being run down.

Bear in mind that the city books for registering will be open but a short time now.

The express brought up from Gainesville by the stage is being left at Mrs. Stricklands now.

Mr. John Moore had some chickens to freeze to death during the sudden change in the weather last week.

Prof. J. W. Boyd preached at the Methodist church last Sunday. The attendance was small on account of the rain.

The figures made us say last week that the city's taxes for 1901 had been reduced to 78 cents when it should have been 68.

The year of 1902 is coming to a close. Let us all settle and pay up our accounts and begin the new year even if possible.

At J. F. Moore & Co's you will find baskets of all kinds, nuts, oranges, raisins, prunes, trunks, hearth brooms, etc., etc.

Thanksgiving was passed off in different ways here. Some got tight, some went hunting and others traded horses and mules.

Mr. A. L. Jackson has recently opened out a store at Yaboola, Ga., in this county. Not having any house rent or city taxes to pay enables him to sell some articles as cheap as they can be had in Gainesville.

Collector Richardson and Marshal Grizzle went out into the edge of Dawson last Friday and caught Geo. Gaddis and John Hix running a blockade distillery. Some two months ago Gaddis was caught operating one in this county. So he now has a pair of cases pending against him.

Rev. R. M. Ash, formerly of Lumpkin but now of White county, came in last week with some stock to sell. Mr. Ash is an old-time preacher, who can occupy a pulpit in a log house once a month free of charge and accomplish more good than some who preach 52 Sundays in the year in towns at $10 a sermon.

The first horse trader's convention, which convened at this place last Thursday, and held for three days, was a success although the weather was cold and very unfavorable. They were here from Fannin, Union, White, Habersham, Banks, Hall, Forsyth, Dawson and Gilmer, with all kinds of stock—some of it being the sorriest that ever waded on four legs, but still it traded. The next annual convention will likely be held earlier in the fall, while the weather is more pleasant.

On last Friday night Alvenia Coffee and Henry Williams, both colored, had a dispute at the former's house just across Craine's hill. Henry not being man enough to handle Alvenia without weapons ran across the street after Cinda Holt's ax for the purpose of working on his antagonist like cutting down a bee tree. Alvenia had an old gun in the house which he brought into use, telling Henry to let the ax alone, which commandment was obeyed and the scene ended for the night. Alvenia paid a fine of $5 and cost and Henry left.

It is thought by some that the presiding elder didn't like it because the Methodist church liked one hundred dollars raising the amount it was assessed for the preacher this year. In the first place the assessment was too high, besides people like to have some voice in saying what they ought to pay. The preacher made more money here than any one else. It was all debt, besides his free rent. In this business there is no wear and tear of machinery unless the pastor tries to initiate Sam Jones, and this wasn't done by Mr. Pierce.

Miss Mamie Gaston of Gainesville, came up last Thursday to visit relatives here.

Mr. Abe Woody of Union county, passed through Dahlonega last Friday with a fine drove of cattle for the lower market.

Mr. Marion Chester has gone down to Hall county to take charge of a rock quarry for the North Georgia Electric Company.

Mr. William Woody comes to the front with a turnip weighing seven and 3/4 pounds, raised on new ground without any fertilizing.

Those who are not patrons of their home paper will find some thing on the first page, headed Monumental Injustice, worth reading.

Miss Irene Holmes of Tennesse, who is attending the Brenau College at Gainesville, spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Meaders of this place.

The Moody tan yard horse, another old land mark in Dahlonega, has been torn away since our last issue. It has been built more than half a century. The lot belongs to Capt. Ingersoll.

U. S. Deputy Collector Richardson came in last week, being the first visit he has made here for some time, and he never fails to call on some of the blockaders when he comes to town.

It looks now as if Dahlonega would soon have a dentist permanently located in her midst. As two are speaking of coming here. One from Dawson county with a new diploma, and the other from Swainsboro.

So far we have not even heard the name of a Christmas tree mentioned. These trees are quite expensive, but they please the children more than anything else during the holidays, and will cause them to attend Sunday school, at least for a few Sabbaths, when nothing else will.

Last week Marshal Grizzle carried Dock Gooch of Dawson county, to Atlanta, on a United States bench warrant, charged with blockading. And James Gooch made bond for his appearance here at a committal trial on the 12th of December, charged with the same offense.

Mrs. Self, an old lady residing in this county, registered a pair of home-made woolen socks to her son last Friday, who resides at Hickory Bridge, Ark. This shows the love of a mother for her son, and how he will appreciate this gift only those far away from their parents can imagine.

Some one has been tearing the notices down at the court house door posted there by land owners who wish no hunting on their property. This makes no difference, as the law has been complied with and if a person undertakes to hunt on one's property after this has been done he will find it out after it is too late.

Maj. Eugene Gordon, a brother of Gen. John B. Gordon, was in the city last week. Mr. Gordon's home is in Alabama, but he is engaged in iron mining in Bartow county, Ga., and came here to examine the operation of a giant, which he has decided to use in topping off the ground at his mine, and it will be much less expensive than any other plan.

A young man named Gasoway, who came to attend the horse trader's convention last Thursday night, was in a bad shape. He appeared at the hotel enquiring for the friends he had left home with. He was hatless, horseless and almost pantsless, while the thermometer registered at 36, and the wind whistling a regular cold wave tone. He was honest enough to acknowledge that he was intoxicated, and said that his horse had thrown him and he didn't know where it was at, leaving him in a bad fix for attending a horse trader's convention. He drank a quart of water and left the hotel in search of his friends.

The ballot's election comes off next Saturday. It promises to be very quiet, as no liquor will be on hand to "temper" the voters with.

Last Monday we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. H. M. Tower, who is located at Anstavia for a while. Mr. Tower is interested in mining in this section and we hope he will realize large benefits from it.

Mr. A. S. Whelchel of New Bridge, Ga., has been in the turnip business, too. Last Saturday he sent us up one by the stage and after being closely trimmed of all top it weighed exactly six pounds.

Miss Marie Gaillard, a graduate of the N. G. A. College here, has been elected to teach at the Cornelia High school in lieu of Miss Maggie Grison, who has been obliged to resign her position there on account of sickness.

Local merchants may keep as good wares as the large metropolitan stores, but if they do not advertise this fact they need not be surprised to see their townspeople continue to send out of town for anything unusually good.

The other day a blockader, who brought a jug of liquor for sale near town and hid it until he could come in and notify his customers, had bad luck. When he went back the liquor and jug were both gone and his customers had to return to town with dry lips.

The pumpkin crop is unusually large in this county and going at a small price. A large wagon load sold here the other day for a dollar. If it was camp meeting season the poor sinners could be fed on all the custards they wanted and tent holders lose but little.

The joint committee Saturday voted to appropriate the N. G. A. College $10,000. Able and strong arguments were made in its behalf by Representatives Bruce, Wellborn and Underwood, and the measure passed by a good majority. It also passed the house last Monday.

The registration book of the city of Dahlonega closes on Monday evening, the 10th inst. So if you wish to vote in the next councilmen's election you will have to register by that time. The book will be found in the hands of Councilman McGee, at M. J. Williams' store.

Mr. J. E. Meaders and Mrs. Green Bell of Swainsboro, arrived in the city last Saturday. Mrs. Bell is the wife of Dr. Bell, a prominent citizen of that city, and Mr. Meaders is a former citizen of Dahlonega, with whom the most of you are well acquainted. They returned home Tuesday.

Mr. Daniel Grice of Forsyth county, was up last week with several other gentlemen of his section on a visit to the top of the Blue Ridge, taking a little outing after gathering their cotton crops. Mr. Grice is an old school mate of the writer and we are always glad to have a call from him.

Mr. Gautier will represent the N. G. A. College next year in the state oratorical contest. This decision was rendered by the judges last Friday. The other speakers in the contest did well but this gentleman was a little head. Mr. Gautier is an able speaker and will make it interesting to the contestants.

On last Sunday night Osborn Austin, col., who has a little "gal" down the way he loves better than himself, got mad and tight because a certain married man of his color outshined him in her presence and took the cake. Osborn reared, cursed and snorted until the marshal got on track of him and about the break of day Monday morning had the broken-hearted lover behind the bars where he could not kiss nor be kissed. In the afternoon the defendant was carried before Mayor Baker and required to pay a fine of $25 and costs or work 30 days in the chain gang on the streets. He paid the fine.

At the Administrator's sale last Tuesday Mr. John Marlow bought the Wesley Stargel place for $75.

BANK OF DAHLONEGA.

Mr. Jack Caldwell of this county, who was injured a few days ago in the Ducktown copper mines, died last week and was buried at the place.

Mr. R. C. Wood, after spending several months on his property a few miles above Dahlonega, left for his winter home at Defunac Springs, Fla., last Tuesday.

It will be seen by an official notice elsewhere than a mass meeting of the citizens of Dahlonega will be held on Wednesday night the 17th inst. for the purpose of selecting three councilmen to be voted for on the Saturday following.

Mrs. Leander Stover, a former citizen of this county, died in Tennessee last Monday and her remains were brought back to this county for interment at Macedonia cemetery. The deceased was a sister of Postmaster Tate of Dahlonega, who has the sympathy of the entire people.

We understand that the Rev. Mr. Marks, who has been appointed to take charge of the Methodist church at this place, 1553 years of age. Has been married but his wife is dead and all his children are grown and married off, but we know nothing about his preaching. Mr. Marks has arrived and will preach next Sunday.

Mr. John Lingerfelt of this county will never attend another horse swapper's convention for the purpose of trading stock, for by doing so the other day in Dahlonega he is now minus any mule. He swapped off his mule and gave five dollars to boot for a horse. It failed to work and he gave it two dollars and a half for a horse and started home. On the way he became so disgusted with it that he gave it away and made the rest of the journey horseless.

Will Trammel, a negro boy of White county who has been staying at Mr. B. R. Meaders, is so fond of music that he stole Mrs. Robt. Meaders' guitar a few nights ago and carried it to his rooming place to pick on at odd times and get in good tune for Christmas. Marshal Harbison took charge of the music box and put the boy in jail Tuesday afternoon, so as to give him a chance to study the keys and notes more thoroughly before handling the instrument any more. Being a boy he was told to go and sin no more.

Our citizens are going to make an effort to have the Gainesville and Dahlonega mail travel on faster time. There is no necessity of the driver being on the road seven hours, a distance of only 25 miles. Other places get better mail facilities and we ought to have it too. When the stage is not loaded with passengers, trunks, all kinds of express, even to liquor some times, the driver makes it much earlier. Drivers have been known to stop on the way under this seven hour system and buy liquor and some times get drunk. If they had to make it quicker they would have no time for this and the people could get their mail much earlier.

Mr. Brooks, an old farmer residing in the Western portion of the county, was in the city the other day. Although he has but one eye, one arm and only one thumb on the other hand, he cultivated seventeen acres of land this year, but the drought cut his crop so short that he made but little. But he worked it all the same. This shows what industry will do and ought to make some of those "having whole limbs" who claim that they are unable to work and drawing pensions, ashamed of themselves. There are many sucking the states teat that ought to earn a living by work. Now just think of this crippled man having to work and raise his portion of the tax to pay hundreds of able bodied men pensions.

Cadet Barnes, who has been dangerously ill, is improving.

Mrs. Nora Stewmon of White county, paid relatives in Dahlonega a visit last Saturday.

Messrs. J. M. Brooksher and J. H. McGee have formed a co-partnership in the mercantile business.

Mr. H. D. Jaquish of Anstavia, and Mr. S. Vansyckle of New York, were up this week taking a peep at the mining field.

Last Tuesday was a very rainy, gloomy day. Everybody had the blues except the couple who spent an hour or so in discussing "society matters," generally.

Mr. John Robinson was up at Cleveland, Ga., last Tuesday telephoning here for hands to work on the railroad at or near Tallulah Falls. Some have already gone and others may follow.

The telephone office at this place is badly in need of a booth so as to make it more private, we understand that one has been ordered some time ago but it seems to have been delayed in some way.

Fate Lee of Tennessee, purchased Joseph Wilkins' farm in this county yesterday for $1,500 and will move back close to where he used to live. The latter speaks of going to Jackson county.

A nice fresh line of best grades calico 54 and 66. Checks, good nice patterns, 6c, drapery calico 75. A few bed blankets, 80 to 98c per pair. Christmas goods arriving.
B. E. MEADERS & SONS.

The petition gotten up in the summer to change the schedule on the Gainesville and Dahlonega mail route to seven hours was not known to many and signed by but few. The people, generally, knew nothing about it.

Little Grace, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hutchins, died here last Tuesday morning after being sick only four or five days. It was a surprise to everyone as but very few knew of her sickness until her death was announced next morning, caused from inflammation of the stomach and bowels. Mr. Hutchins being in Colorado was notified of his little girl's death at once, who will likely reach Jefferson, Ga., today where her remains were carried for interment.

It is reported that Mr. West Stancil, who recently made an unsuccessful race for sheriff in Lumpkin, attempted to commit suicide in the upper portion of the county a few days ago by trying to ride to the end of the world and jump off. He, together with many others had attended a public sale, when all of a sudden he jumped on his horse and lit out at break-neck speed. Some of his friends having faster horses, started after the man and succeeded in overtaking and catching Mr. Stancil before he had time to accomplish his intentions. At first it was thought that Mr. Stancil was drinking but a committee scented his breath and could smell nothing of that nature, but on the other hand discovered that he was crazy with love. His sweetheart had slighted him and it was more than he could stand, causing him to attempt to end his journey here below. We deeply sympathize with the distressed man. We were in just such a fix once. A girl we had learned to love and almost worship, turned the back of her to us. It looked as large as a bale of cotton. We too hooded and wept like a child. We could neither eat, drink or sleep and in a little while had a consumptive look. Rather than to pine away and die in this manner we decided to take our life. So we procured a ladder and a number 8 gowing thread, and after using one end around our neck and the other to the limb of a tree, jumped off. The cord broke and our head and shoulders struck the ground. The collision certainly regulated our senses, causing us to decide that there were too many women in the world for a man or boy to act the fool about one.

A Card of Thanks.

The good people of Dahlonega, who so kindly assisted us during the sickness and death of our dear little girl, Zephyr, will please accept our thanks. Such kindness can only be fully appreciated by those who have passed through this sad ordeal.

Respectfully,
J. E. McGEE AND WIFE.
For Councilmen.

MR. EDITOR:
As there is one councilman to elect from each ward this year, and while we're looking around, I will suggest the following: 1st ward, E. W. Strickland; 2nd ward, George Moore; 3rd ward, W. P. Price, Jr.
These men represent a lot of property and the different occupations of our city and will be endorsed by all our citizens.

NOTE.

RHEUMATISM CURED AT LAST.

Good News For All Who Suffer With Rheumatism Free.

To all who suffer with Rheumatism I will gladly send free the wonderful story of how my mother was cured after years of suffering, together with the most elaborate treatise on Rheumatism ever published. No matter what your form of Rheumatism is, whether acute, chronic, muscular, inflammatory, deformity, sciatic, neuralgia, gout, lumbago, etc.—no matter how many doctors have failed in your case—no matter how many so-called "cure cures" you have tried—I want you to write to me and let me tell you how mother was cured. I am neither a Doctor nor a Professor—simply a plain man of business—but I have a CURE for Rheumatism, and I want to tell everyone who suffers with Rheumatism all about it. I wish to be clearly understood, and trust that all who are suffering with this terrible disease, however apparently beyond the reach of cure, will write to me this day and I will send you by registered mail this book of mine. I appeal especially to the "chronically ill" who are wearied and discouraged with "doctoring" and to those who have been told that it is "incurable." All you have thought about Rheumatism may be wrong. Let me tell you our experience. Simply, if you have Rheumatism, or have a suffering friend, it will pay you to investigate my offer, anyway, and prove for yourself these claims I make.

Send me your address today—a postal card will do—and I will mail you this wonderful story. If you have any friends suffering with Rheumatism, no matter where located, send them our address, and I will mail them a copy of this story. My address is VICTOR RAINOLDY, Bloomfield, Ind.

WEEDS

Consumption is a human weed flourishing best in weak lungs. Like other weeds it's easily destroyed while young; when old, sometimes impossible.

Strengthen the lungs as you would weak land and the weeds will disappear.

The best lung fertilizer is Scott's Emulsion. Salt pork is good too, but it is very hard to digest.

The time to treat consumption is when you begin trying to hide it from yourself. Others see it, you won't.

Don't wait until you can't deceive yourself any longer. Begin with the first thought to take Scott's Emulsion. If it isn't really consumption so much the better; you will soon forget it and be better for the treatment. If it is consumption you can't expect to be cured at once, but if you will begin in time and will be rigidly regular in your treatment you will win.

Scott's Emulsion, fresh air, rest all you can, eat all you can, that's the treatment and that's the best treatment.

We will send you a little of the Emulsion free.
See that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

INDIAN CLAIM SOUGHT ETC.

Senator Perry Wants United States to Pay State $5,000.

If a resolution offered in the senate by Senator Perry, of the thirty-third, is adopted the United States government will be asked to pay $5,000 into the state treasury.

Senator Perry's resolution is to the effect that whereas the state has paid out money which should have come from the United States treasury, the government is indebted to the state in this amount.

The general assembly of 1837 authorized the governor of Georgia to order the state militia to co-operate with the United States troops in removing the Cherokee Indians to the west, and for the protection of the country in which they lived. For the enforcement of the treaty between the Indians and the United States, the state of Georgia paid out $3,921.45, and now Senator Perry wants this money paid back.

Senator Perry's resolution is to the effect that the general assembly authorize the governor to request the Georgia senators in congress to ask the reimbursement of the money paid out in 1837. The resolution was engrossed.—Atlanta News.

Affinity With God.

Just as the fragment of a shattered mirror is also a mirror in itself, just as the smallest drop of water possesses all the qualities and is subject to the same laws as the ocean's floods, so the atom of spirit we call "human soul" is most truly a fragment, a drop, of the Great Soul. Must it, then, not have affinity with its origin, affinity, therefore, intercourse, therefore influence?—Rev. F. De Sola Mendes, Hebrew, New York.

BAN JOSE SCALE.

By W. M. Scott, State Entomologist.
The results of our recent experiments do not materially change the former recommendations of this office for the treatment of the Ban Jose scale, but they broaden the field of effective remedies, giving the orchardist the option of choosing one of several. The petroleum oil (kerosene) and crude petroleum, which have furnished the almost exclusive remedy for the scale in this State, came through the experiments with more promise in their favor than any other substance tested, although the lime, salt and sulphur wash gave almost equally as good results. In dealing with insecticides it is not usually safe to base recommendations upon one year's experience, and for this reason alone we are not willing to give the lime, salt and sulphur wash the endorsement that the results obtained from its use in the tests would warrant. However, it deserves to be recorded as very promising and given a place in the recommendations, allowing the orchard owner to choose between it and the oils. Results of further tests, which are planned for next winter, may place the wash upon an equal with oils, or even show its superiority to any.

It will be remembered that in all former recommendations issued from this office (bulletin 1, and Circulars 4 and 5) two applications during the course of the winter have been insisted upon. One application appears to be sufficient for trees that have reached full growth, but the results of our experiments show most conclusively the necessity for two in the treatment of young orchards. The scale insects on young trees are more virulent, multiply much more rapidly and are afforded a better food supply than those on older trees, hence the number of surviving scales that would do no particular damage to old trees might seriously damage those not yet full grown. Moreover, it is quite impossible to reach every portion of a tree with one application, particularly if much wind is stirring, and it is usually advisable to make two, even in case of old trees.

Concluding not only from the recent experiments but in part from practical results obtained by the growers, the recommendations for next winter's work stand as follows:

1. Oil Emulsion.—In November, or early December apply a 15 per cent strength of either crude oil or kerosene in emulsion with soap, and in February or early March (before the bloom buds open, repeat the application at a strength of 20 per cent. When obtained in our lots (as was done last winter) the crude oil is some cheaper and in general practice is given slightly more satisfactory results in the effect upon both the scale and the trees, hence it should be given the preference. Not having yet completed the experiments with low grade crude oils we can recommend only the Polyneiviana product, registering not less than 45 degrees gravity on the Baumé oil scale.

In spraying a tree the work should be done thoroughly, but quickly, moistening every portion of the tree above the ground without allowing the substance to run down the trunk. Begin on the side of the tree opposite the pump and walk completely around spraying from the top downward, and taking care to reach the twigs and the folds of the limbs. If green small apples or twigs are left the best results cannot be expected. On the other hand, the use of an excess of oil will endanger the tree and should be carefully avoided.

2. Oil in Mechanical Mixture.—The mechanical mixture of either crude oil or kerosene, applied by the use of the oil-water pump, may be substituted for the emulsion recommended above so long as the pump discharges a uniform percentage of oil, results equal to as good as those obtained from emulsion may be expected. In addition to the precautions to be observed in the use of emulsion the mechanical mixture requires constant watching to keep them properly adjusted and the percentage of oil discharged should be frequently tested. To make these tests catch the mixture as it is discharged from the nozzle, let a bottle with a straight side, allow it to stand until the oil rises to the top and then with a rule measure the volume of oil as compared with the volume of water beneath it. This will show the proportion of oil to water discharged. If the desired percentage is not obtained, the pump should be looked into and readjusted.

3. Lime, Salt and Sulphur Wash.—The lime, salt and sulphur wash should be applied in February or March, before the trees begin to bud. This remedy gave such results in the tests that we are willing to include it in the recommendations, feeling confident of its success when properly prepared and thoroughly applied. The instructions for its preparation should be carefully observed with particular reference to the boiling, and its application should be thorough.

No fall or mid-winter applications of this wash having been made at present we advise only its use in the spring. 4. Whale-Oil Soap.—In the treatment of family orchards it may be found more convenient to use whale-oil soap than the other more complicated remedies. Use a good quality soap and dissolve it (by boiling) in water at the rate of 2 pounds to each gallon. Make the application in early spring, just before bud-burst begins, using a spray or cloth mop, preferably the former, should only a very small number of trees be involved, they might be successfully treated by rubbing on the solution with a cloth, provided good care be taken to coat the small twigs as well as the trunk and limbs.

More thorough execution to the scale would be expected from two applications, one at a strength of one and a half pounds to the gallon of water and the other as recommended above. A single application will not ordinarily give entire satisfaction.

Crude caustic potash being cheaper, although not so effective, may in some cases be advantageously substituted for whale-oil soap. In fact, in commercial orchards where the scale is in a weakened condition from the age of the trees, this substance may be used with success. For effective work a strength of at least ten pounds to fifty gallons of water will ordinarily be required.

How to Prepare Emulsion.

Preparation.—An emulsion of either crude petroleum or kerosene may be made from the following formula:

Two pounds of potash whale oil soap, four gallons of water, eight gallons of oil.
Weigh the soap carefully and place with the water in a vessel over the fire, using a slight excess of water to make up for evaporation. Fit a pump with a short piece of hose to which is attached a nozzle for throwing a straight stream three-sixteenths or one quarter of an inch in diameter. Pour the oil into the barrel or tub in which the pump is set, and when the whole oil soap is dissolved and the solution begins to boil, add it to the oil and pump the whole vigorously back into itself for a period of at least ten minutes. The stream from the nozzle should be directed straight downward into the mixture so as to stir it to the very bottom. After a few minutes the oil and soap solution will be seen to combine, forming a thick, creamy emulsion, which, when perfectly made, will remain without change for weeks.

Materials: Pump Required.—Either crude oil or kerosene will give good results in making emulsion. The soap should preferably be some soft whale oil soap, such as Good's No. 2. If a hard soap is used the emulsion will be curdy, and only with difficulty mix with water. Country live soap answers admirably, but must be used in some what larger quantity than called for in the formula given above.

The ordinary Bordeaux spray pump answers well in making the emulsion, but almost any pump will do that can be fitted with the requisite section of hose and nozzle. A "Bordeaux" or "Bordeaux" nozzle gives a very satisfactory sized stream for this work, though rather small.

The water used must be soft, for if hard, no stable emulsion can be prepared, and it sometimes happens that foreign substances changing to be present, will prevent the emulsification. If a lot of soap solution and oil, for any reason, fails to emulsify properly, the best thing to do is to throw the whole away, carefully clean up the pump, wash out all the vessels used and begin over.

A "SALTED" MINE.

Buyer And Seller Both Concluded That They Were Satisfied.

"There is an old saying that it is not all gold that glitters," remarked a man from the far west to a friend in Detroit the other night. "Out in the mining country where I belong our estimate of human nature is based principally on dollars and cents.

"I remember that one day in the vicinity where I was working a man came out prospecting. One of the boys had a claim near Carson City which was termed in miners' parlance a 'dead one'—that is it had been worked and found unproductive. The stranger, however, wanted to see this claim.

"The miner borrowed a nine dollar nugget from a friend and went with him. When they reached the claim in question, the miner made it a point to drop the nugget in a conspicuous place. The stranger saw it, picked it up and kept it. He expressed himself as satisfied with the outlook, and both returned to Carson City, where the would be mine owner had the nugget assayed. The outcome of the matter was that he offered $500 for the claim, which after some dickering was accepted by the owner.

"Of course it was but a short time until he discovered that he had got the worst of it, and he came back to Carson City in quest of the man who sold him the claim. He found the letter enjoying himself with the money he had received for the hole in the ground and going to him, threatened to have him arrested for receiving money under false pretenses.

"His former companion merely smiled and said: 'Look here, my friend; you were looking for the best of it, and so was I. As a matter of fact, I think I got it. Now, the best thing for you to do is to keep quiet, for if you talk about obtaining a warrant for my arrest in this matter I will do the same and charge you with the theft of that nine dollar nugget I purposely dropped for your benefit.'

"Each one looked at the other for a moment, and then both smiled."—Detroit Free Press.

Horrible Treatment.

The Evening Post, a Bulgarian paper, recently printed a story of further horrible atrocities inflicted on Macedonian Christians by Turks.

According to The Post, the Turks, among other things, placed red hot iron caps on the heads of the Christians, pour burning petroleum over their feet, and in some cases bind sixty or seventy prisoners together and leave them to starve.

The paper gives some of the peculiar cases of cruelty inflicted by Turkish emissaries in their efforts to stamp out Christianity in Macedonia. It says:

"A priest named Stefano, in the village of Padesh, was forced to drink filth from a chalice. Sisters Savatia and Magda expired as the result of unmentionable tortures. "Elder Nicholai, of the village of Leshko, after being forced to witness the torture of both his daughters, young women, was himself roasted to death.

"The inhabitants of the villages of Kardshazo, Loydash and Klesora have fled to the hills to avoid the Turks and are now dying there of cold and hunger."

THE LOCAL NEWSPAPER.

It Attracts Trade and is a Power in Building Up a Town

The editors of the daily and weekly papers take a greater interest in and do more for the welfare of the locality in which they live than any other class of business men, yet they are no more directly benefited by the results of their public spirited efforts than the merchants and property owners who, perhaps neglect to have their names on the editor's subscription list or fail to advertise in his paper.

In attracting trade to the town in which it is published the immense power a local newspaper possesses can hardly be estimated. He who will impartially consider this assertion will be convinced of the truth of it. The local paper is very naturally biased in favor of the place of its publication and if given a fair living patronage by home business men will guard well their interests, just as the merchant guards the interests of his individual customer.

But if a niggardly support is doled out to it is compelled to solicit custom from neighboring cities it cannot in justice to those patrons exert itself in behalf of its own town as it otherwise would. Try a system of liberality of advertising expenditure and mark the result.—Ex.

Our State Pension Policy.

The present pension policy of Georgia seems to be gradually leading the state into a condition of financial embarrassment. The policy will either have to be changed and the annual increase of pensions held down in some way, or our taxes, already high enough to be burdensome, will have to be increased beyond reason.

We see that the appropriation bill reported to the house of representatives by the appropriations committee yesterday contains the following appropriations:

Disabled soldiers' pen.	$185,000
Indigent soldier's pen.	385,000
Indigent widows' pen.	90,000
Widows' pensions.	185,000

Total $845,000 In addition to this there is an additional appropriation of $12,500 for the Soldiers' Home.

The annual report of Pension Commissioner Lindsay shows that the pension payments of the state have been from 1870 to 1902, inclusive, $6,798,829. Add to this, the $845,000 for the current year, and we will have a total of $7,643,829—more than the bonded debt of the state.

The appropriations for pensions have been increasing from year to year, and yet the cry is heard for more. Last year the tax levy on the property of the state for pension purposes was 1.82; and this year it is 1.95. Where is this pension policy going to lead the state? or how much longer will the state be able to stand it?—Albany Herald.

A Missouri man went to Washington, D. C., to sell horses. He made a doleful report thus: "The people travel on electric cars and do not need roadsters; they ride bicycles and automobiles and do not need fast trotters; they gamble by wire and do not need race horses, and the government is run largely by jackasses and there you are."

PROGRESSIVE TOWNS.

They Are Inhabited by the Right Kind of Citizens.

Every town has the wrong and the right kind of citizens. If the former are in the majority, then the town in which they live is not making much progress. The right kind of citizen is the man who wants to see his town improve and grow. He is the man who does not look across the continent for an investment, but spends his money at home and encourages home enterprises. The right kind of citizen does not grumble about high taxes, because he has sense enough to know that taxes must be high in a growing city and that if low taxes are a desideratum he must go to a place that has stopped growing or that never has grown much.

The right kind of a citizen knows the distinction between the virtue of economy which avoids all waste, but spends money freely for public improvements, and the vice of parsimony, that spends nothing unless absolutely compelled to. The right kind of citizen may not be a wealthy man, indeed he is more frequently not one, but he cheerfully helps support the public schools and the churches and he is in favor of the public library.

Well lighted streets and good side walks are demanded by the right kind of citizen, for he knows that vice and crime hate gaslight and electric light almost as much as they do daylight and that they delight in darkness. He also knows that these things give a good impression to strangers. The right kind of citizens also is fully aware of the fact that no expenditure brings so great a return to the citizen as that which he pays in taxes provided it be honestly and judiciously applied. The wrong kind of citizen sees none of these things and does none of them.—Ex.

Newspaper First.

The Chicago merchant tells the Tribune of that city that he uses various methods of advertising, but nothing else until his newspaper space has been contracted for. "No other medium brings such immediate or such large returns. Considering the result, it is by all odds the cheapest."

And why is this? Simply because the newspaper goes everywhere. It is to be found in the office, in the store, in the shop, on the cars—no place is denied it—and all of this because it is a downright necessity. The person who tries to get along without it is certain to fall out of the procession.

The newspaper brings seller and buyer together, and thus is entitled to hold first place in the matter of advertising.—Waco (Tex.) Herald.

Two Marriages.

HALFWAY, GA., Dec. 2, 1902, EDITOR NUGGET:

I think we will have a pleasant Christmas, all sober.

Johnny Anderson and Miss Vador Sallins were married last Tuesday night, J. A. Abercrombie officiating. And this, Monday night, Dec. 1st, Thomas Sollins, Jr., and Miss Fannie Brown were united in matrimony, at 7 o'clock, p. m., by Rev. J. N. Austin.

There are just a few more boys and girls left. I guess they will marry when they get ready. The girls are all pretty. They may think the same of the boys. Well, they all have our best wishes,

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, DECEMBER 11, 1902.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O. as Second Class Matter.

Official Organ of both City and County.

The legislature adjourns tomorrow night.

The Australian ballot bill has been tabled by the senate.

Ex-speaker Reed died at Washington City last Sunday morning at 12:10 o'clock.

Fourteen persons lost their lives in a burning hotel at Chicago one night last week.

A negro has to work on the rock pile 30 days for stealing a newspaper in Atlanta.

The Atlanta police caught several parties gambling in the Salvation army house the other night.

Aunt Carrie Nations was placed behind the bars at Topeka, Kan., last week for disturbing the peace.

It seems that dealers who sell or give away cigarette papers will have to pay a tax of $10 per annum.

Last Saturday the pension bill carrying $189,000,000 passed the house of congress without a word of debate.

Many bridges were washed away in Ware county last week and thousands of dollars worth of property lost.

The rains were very heavy in South Georgia last week. The streams being higher than ever known before.

It is said that Thomas E. Watson will re-enter the democratic ranks and fight for the next presidential nominee.

Last week near Athens, Ga., a man named Sykes was killed by his 11-year old boy with a shotgun, while beating his mother.

Terrific snow and sleet storms visited the Eastern and Western States last week; and traffic was delayed by snow covered trails.

Col. J. H. Estill has been appointed to succeed Hon. William Garrard as a member of the board of trustees of the Georgias Soldiers' home.

Representative West got miffed at the speaker the other day and left the house but it won't cause the legislature to adjourn before the regular time.

The first issue of "The Mountaineer," a semi-monthly magazine edited Dr. W. B. Netherby, of Cleveland, Ga., has been received. It is well printed and very interesting.

The other night an editor, farmer, teacher and lawyer from Toccoa, Ga., went down to Atlanta and while making remarks at a theatre were arrested and carried to the lock-up. Names not given.

Do you want a bright, breezy, up to date daily? If so you can get the Atlanta News by applying to the editor of the Nugget at the low price of 25 cents a month, $3 a year. It is only four months old and is issuing 15,000 copies daily now.

Rev. W. J. Flanders of Wrightsville, Ga., who was expelled from his church last October on charges of immorality and of inefficiency, failed to get a revision of the finding against him by an investigating committee of the South Georgia Conference at Thomsville last week. Oh "how shabby."

Grant Woody of Union county, got lost in Atlanta the other day with $1,900 in his pocket causing his brother to be greatly alarmed until a negro man piloted him back safely to the wagon yard from where he started. He was "out of pocket" some three or four hours and the whole detective force was in search of the mountaineer thinking likely he had been murdered.

Tom Watson lectures in Gainesville tonight.

Thieves in Atlanta recently stole the floor out of a house.

The senate has approved the present system of leasing convicts.

The south suffered from the first blizzard of the season last week.

Minister A. E. Buck died last week in Japan while on a hunting trip very suddenly.

Rev. Joe Jones dropped dead of paralysis while talking to his brother, Rev. Sam Jones, at Carversville last week.

Dolly Pritchett, the young girl who was serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for infanticide, has been pardoned by the governor.

A post office has been established at New Holand in Hall county with Dr. J. H. Downey post master, which will be open in a short time.

The house has raised the liquor manufacturers and liquor dealers to $300. No tax on domestic wines grown on their own land. Dealers in white hops $100.

Last Saturday at Waycross, Ga., Town Marshal Holton and a small boy were killed by a white desperado, Leo Cribb, badly wounded as the result of a riot.

Lincoln Wehnert, the man of Lumpkin county who is 48 years of age and never wore a hat or coat in his life, visited Gainesville last week and gave them something to talk about.

There are quite a lot of weekly papers published in Georgia bigger than the Nugget, but a large portion of them is patent matter. The Nugget is small but it is all home print, sweet and juicy.

A special from San Francisco says: From the Guatemalan coast the Pacific steamer City of Sydney brings the news that the deaths resulting from the recent eruption of the Santo Mari volcano number about 3,000.

The $100,000 which Mrs. Leys was recently given by the Supreme court of New York for the killing of her husband by the New York Central Railroad is said to be the largest ever awarded in any country for damages because of death.

There was a blockade of freight cars at Pittsburg, Pa., and they sent for the President and he came and moved 990 trains of nearly 50,000 cars in twenty-four hours. The cars and engines altogether would have reached from Pittsburg to Baltimore.

Six cars for the street railway in Gainesville were received last week, and the laying of the track is progressing as fast as the weather will admit. The machinery at New Bridge will be in fix it is thought to give Gainesville light by Christmas.

The remains of an infant were found last Friday in the woods north of Alta Vista cemetery. The tiny skeleton had been unearthed by some means, having evidently been shrouded in a white cloth and buried in a basket. The doctor who examined the remains expressed the opinion that the baby was newly born when put away, and that several weeks had elapsed since its interment. There is no clue as to its parents age. Gainesville Eagle.

Bro. Bell of Emanuel county, and editor of the Wiregrass Blade, has introduced a bill in the house to prevent kissing in Georgia, except people who are very closely related. Oh, what a horror! We take it for granted that Mr. Bell expects to go out of the newspaper business, for it has been a custom for editors to occasionally exchange kisses with those other than their intimates. It is the only real happiness a country editor has, and to take this privilege away from him would cause many a one to either commit suicide or close up his shop, saying nothing of the unpleasantness it would bring to the fair sex.

Villa Dots.

It could not have been other than delightful, with Mrs. Castleberry as hostess, assisted by her charming daughters, and some of the "rooks" and as the guests assembled in the parlors of the Villa, Saturday evening last, one could read upon their faces, a determination to make at least half a night of it. And they did; for the last half of "Home Sweet Home," rendered in her charming manner, by Miss Wood, was, or should have been a hymn.

The reception was given by the P. S. I. in compliment to their friends, two or three miners, and one member from each of the other two fraternities of the N. G. A. C.

The beautiful feature of the entertainment, was an innovation, and from the standpoint of the writer, one that it is hoped will be perpetuated. Formerly in their annual banquets, no courtesies were extended to the others, but in this case, one member from each of the other fraternities, were tendered the hospitality of the entertainment. Harmony, and close fellowship breed but love, while bitterness springs from unwholesome competition. Enough, and we commend the practice.

Aside from any side plays that might have been going on, the game of "Violata," was the principal one. It proved very entertaining, the first honors being won by Miss Dwellie, a visiting young lady, who dwells in Caterville, and Mr. Byers—don't know which one—, and the tail end of the honors, clipped by D. Chalmers Stow, Steed, and Barwald. No one knows how they divided them.

Mr. Lou Elkin, acted as Toastmaster, and from the way he handled the matter, we take it he has looked through a glass of water before.

The toast "Our Hostess," by Mr. George Rowe, was fully worthy of the subject, but we don't know which one of the physicians, recited his right arm.

J. D. Gortatowsky, responded to "The New Movement," in a manner that impressed us with the feeling that his heart was fully in harmony with his words.

"Our Ladies" received their just dues, in the toast by Mr. Rufus Steed, but it is singular how a man can undertake a subject intended to be general, and at the same time stand with his eyes riveted to those of an individual. Still, you can't blame him, for they almost speak, and surely something inspired him to make come and go, slight tinges of color over the faces of the assembled fair ones. Possibly each one thought she was "It."

The tables were tastefully arranged and the decoration beautiful, and gradually ceased to groan, as their load was lightened, when a smile at last spread over the faces of the miners, and we saw upon their countenances a look of perfect bliss. There's a lot of difference between "The Villa," and "Shacking."

The feast over, the guests returned to the parlor, where Miss Myers, recited in a manner that did her credit, and gave to those assembled, a treat much appreciated and enjoyed.

Selections upon the piano, by Miss Wood, fully sustained her reputation as a performer, while Mr. Elkins, played a soft soothing air that melted his hearers into deep slumber, and Collins, jumped up and hit a few notes that recalled them to normal. Then Tregant sang and the guests fled on out the door.

Mr. Geo. F. Erwin of Clarksville, Ga., died suddenly in Atlanta Sunday night.

The house has voted for the manufacturer of Coca-Cola to pay a tax of $1,000, as many members denounced it worse than whiskey.

The Atlanta News has grown in size, circulation and popularity till its daily circulation in four months has gained more than 15,000.

What Col. Farrow Says About the Mail Line.

GAINESVILLE, GA., Dec. 9.

DEAR TOWNSEND:

I received your papers about the schedule and did hope to get them in shape to return them to you today, but other pressing duties have prevented. I'll get them back to you by tomorrow's mail.

You will remember that schedule was framed by a special agent who visited the grounds last month one year ago and the order putting it in force bears date Nov. 25th, 1901. Who that agent was I have forgotten and whom he consulted I never knew. The change desired, as I understand the petition, relates to the period from Dec. 1st to March 31st.

I will study the matter closely and give you my views by tomorrow's mail. I think there is some reform needed.

Yours respectfully,
HENRY P. FARROW.

New Officers.

The following are the names of the new officers of Gold City Lodge, No. 117, K. of P., to serve another term:

Wharton Anderson, C. C.

W. W. Crisson, M. A.
J. M. Hulsey, I. G.
J. V. Arrendale, O. G.
Hulsey, Stow, Hix, Trustees.

Postmaster General Payne's order that no married women shall be employed in his department if their husbands are able to support them, is already bearing fruit in breaking up homes. A day or two ago a woman clerk who draws $1,400 a year announced to the chief of her division that she had separated from her husband, who draws $1,800, and would secure a divorce. The husband and wife talked the matter over and agreed that it would be better to give each other up than to sacrifice one of the salaries.

House voted 120 to 27 for summer sessions.

Tuesday morning a fire in Atlanta destroyed half of central city block, including Norcross building. Loss estimated at $300,000.

Sick Blood

Feed pale girls on Scott's Emulsion.

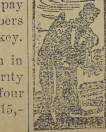

We do not need to give all the reasons why Scott's Emulsion restores the strength and flesh and color of good health to those who suffer from sick blood.

The fact that it is the best preparation of Cod Liver Oil, rich in nutrition, full of healthy stimulation is a suggestion as to why it does what it does.

Scott's Emulsion presents Cod Liver Oil at its best, fullest in strength, least in taste.

Young women in their "teens" are permanently cured of the peculiar disease of the blood which shows itself in paleness, weakness and nervousness, by regular treatment with Scott's Emulsion.

It is a true blood food and is naturally adapted to the cure of the blood sickness from which so many young women suffer.

We will be glad to send a sample to any sufferer.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Scott's Emulsion.

For Councilmen.

MR. EDITOR:

As there is one councilman to elect from each ward this year, and while we are looking around, I will suggest the following: 1st ward, E. W. Strickland; 2nd ward, George Moore; 3rd ward, W. P. Price, Jr.

These men represent a lot of property and the different occupations of our city and will be endorsed by all our citizens.

VOTER.

NOTICE.

There will be a mass meeting of the citizens of Dahlonega, held in the Court house in the City of Dahlonega, on Wednesday night, 7 o'clock, Dec. 17th, 1902, for the purpose of nominating one Alderman in each Ward of said city, to serve for 2 years from January 1, 1903. All present, entitled to vote, are earnestly requested to be present. Dec. 1, 1902.

THE NUGGET

DAHLONEGA, DECEMBER 11, 1902

Col. Lilly has purchased the Davie Harris house, near M. J. Williams.

Mr. Charlie Crisson is over from Ducktown, Tenn., for a short visit to friends and relatives.

Miss Lila Cain, who is teaching school at Hapeville, Ga., spent last Saturday here with her mother and sister.

Rev. Dr. Batly and wife of Natchez, Ga., stopped over at Hall's Villa last week while on their way to Murray county.

The legislative committee appointed to visit the N. G. A. College, at this place, postponed its trip until next June, during commencement.

Order your Christmas whiskies and brandies from J. H. Woolley, Cherryville, N. C. Corn whiskey $1.50, 1.75, 2.00 and 3.00. See ad. on 4th page.

Young lady, if your sweetheart is ashamed to go into church with you and waits out side until the services are closed to carry you home, you had better dismiss him at once.

The ball's election here last Saturday was very quiet and but few votes polled. Mr. E. Carrell and Mr. Geo. W. Walker were the only candidates in the field.

Five dollars reward will be paid for any information leading to the recovery of my steel anvil, which was stolen from my shop at Marysville, Ga., a short time ago.

Walter Rice, who has been down at Bessemer, Ala., iron mining for a few months, returned home last week. It will soon be Christmas now and all the boys would like to meet Santa Claus at home.

Last Saturday our sanctum was visited by our esteemed friend and patron, Mr. D. T. Harris, of Murrayville, Ga. Mr. Harris used to be a citizen of Dahlonega and has many friends here who are always glad to see him.

The suggestion of Billy Sigel to put the sanitary tax on a general tax basis, and cause capitalists in New York and other northern cities owning property here to pay sanitary tax in Dahlonega, has caused much laughter.

Fair View school in this county, taught by Mr. Arrendale, has received its literature and has a splendid library of about one hundred books. This will be a big addition to the school and all others should work to this point.

Mr. C. C. Post of Seabreeze, Fla., and Mr. John A. Nickel of Manassas, Va., were in the city last week inspecting some mining machinery so as to ascertain the best and cheapest manner of working a gold mine, which they will soon commence operating near the Virginia line.

There is one farmer in Lumpkin county who makes the business profitable. He brings about 25 cents worth of stuff to town and spends two or three days and nights with his acquaintances and during the near approach of the holidays longer.

The authorities are getting on track of the special blind tiger that is being run in Dahlonega within a stone's throw of the court house. The liquor sells at 35 cents a pint to non residents only, which has caused it to go unnoticed until recently. Take warning.

The Rev. Mr. Marks filled the pulpit at the Methodist church here for the first time last Sunday at 11 o'clock. Those who heard him, say that his discourse was plain and full of good sound Methodist doctrine. The discipline was taken up and while commenting upon different subjects "got on several of the members toes." He is a man of many years experience and fully old enough to give much good advice and we trust that great good will be accomplished during the year.

Eggs sold here last week at 20 cents a dozen, and big white headed cabbage at 50 cents per hundred. The latter being very dull at that.

Mrs. Whitson of Atlanta, was here last week on an inspecting trip for the purpose of giving Dahlonega a write up. Her article will appear in next week's NUGGET.

It will be well for you to remember that the state and county tax book closes here on the 20th inst. and those not settled by that time will have to be issued against them.

Col. Friday was called to Atlanta last Friday by telephone to be present at the argument for a new trial before the U. S. court of John Chatten, charged with breaking open the Wier postoffice.

Remember that the city mass meeting is to be held at the court house Wednesday night. All parties entitled to a vote should come out and help make a selection of good men for aldermen next year.

Santa Claus has made Mr. John Hatfield's headquarters for fire works, all kinds of fancy candies and many other articles too numerous to mention. Call at once before the stock is picked over, as the goods are going like hot cakes.

The ladies are giving their flower yards attention now by setting out cuttings. And in the spring the men folks will begin the profitable work by making preparations to raise vegetables to eat, while the roses bloom to the delight of the fair sex.

The number of stewards of the Methodist church at this place has been reduced to four, as follows: Messrs. J. M. Brooksher, E. S. Copeland, R. C. Meaders and Prof. J. W. Boyd, who will look after the welfare of the church for the next twelve months.

It may surprise many of you to know that there is talk of heating the houses of Dahlonega by electricity at no far distant day, and when you get up in the morning all you will have to do will be to touch a button and your room will soon be warm. Won't this be nice?

Col. W. P. Price, president of the board of trustees of the N. G. A. College, and Mr. H. D. Gurley, secretary of the board, went down to Atlanta last Sunday in the interest of the college. Col. W. A. Charters, another member of the board was already on hand. Also Col. B. H. Baker.

Postmaster Tate, who returned from a several days trip over in Tennessee last week, says that he saw a thousand pounds of rabbit meat shipped at once to Macon, New Orleans and other places, being worth four cents a pound. Some of our sportsmen here could make big wages by going over and hunting rabbits.

We are informed that Andrew Whistnant was seriously burned the other night while attending services at the Methodist church, by sitting down on nitric acid which had been spilled on the bench, by whom and for what purpose has not been ascertained yet and may never. His new suit was burned by the acid and ruined.

Last week Prof. Boyd of the Cavender's Creek mine, made the trip from Clarksville, a distance of 30 miles, in a hearse, accompanied by his wife and child. All the vehicles at Clarksville were engaged on that day and the Professor had an appointment to be at the mine and this was his only chance. The turnout passing through the country caused many to look and wonder who was dead.

Last Sunday was a clear bright day and it was passed off in different ways by our citizens. Some went to hear the new preacher, some went courting, others went off after liquor and we stayed in the office and perused Hix's Almanac to see if our old fall socks would be comfortable through the winter or not. But the happiest man in town was Col. W. S. Huff on account of the appearance of a twelve pound boy at his house.

The little one-year-old child of Mr. John Baker died in Dahlonega last Thursday.

All kinds of fur skins will be purchased here by M. J. WILLIAMS.

Another new lot of stationery just received. So if you need any printed matter, call on us.

If you want Santa Claus to find you with a nice, good, cheap suit of goods on, go to H. D. Gurleys, before his bargains close.

Mr. A. A. Alma of Kentucky, spent several days in Dahlonega last week, looking after the Christian Wahl property. Mr. Alma is originally an Ohioan.

Col. S. A. Jones of North Carolina, and Col. Hart and son, were riding around Thursday here, looking at the Crown Mountain and Consolidated plants.

Last Thursday night we had a heavy rain here and a big sled, covering the ground in a few minutes. The storm lasted only a few minutes but the wind blew so hard as to cause some alarm.

Persons desiring to subscribe for THE DAHLONEGA (the college paper) can send to Mr. W. F. Thomas, business manager, at Dahlonega, Georgia. Subscription price, 50 cents per annum.

Mrs. Stewart of this place, has a small bearing orange tree containing about 20 ripe and a number of green ones, being very pretty. It has to be kept either in a warm room or hot house.

We are going to transfer our list of subscribers to a new book before the new year and those whose subscriptions have expired, wishing the paper continued will please renew before that time.

Hunter and Underwood have dissolved copartnership in the barber business at this place and hereafter Underwood, the old reliable, will be found at his place of business ready to serve his customers.

The Gainesville mail didn't reach Dahlonega on Friday until 9 o'clock at night. The hack had on three passengers besides the driver and broke down, making it very unpleasant for those expecting to receive important mail.

We had a pleasant visit last Friday from Dr. Metcalf and Mr. M. B. Koplanger of Illinois. The Doctor is interested in Crown Mountain Gold Mining Co., and had been here before, but it was Mr. Koplanger's first trip to Dahlonega. The latch string to the office door always hangs on the outside to them and we hope to have these gentlemen with us again soon. They were accompanied to Dahlonega by Rev. J. J. McCabe, Messrs. A. J. Edwards, E. Mayfield and S. H. Larimore, all of whom made a general inspection of the mines and returned home last Saturday. They would have remained in Dahlonega a day or two longer but got delayed on their way down here by a wreck of the train which they occupied.

Rev. E. C. Marks, the new Methodist preacher, was introduced to us last Thursday, and not wearing any kind of a church cloak left us fair for criticism, and he took occasion to remark that running a newspaper and not belonging to the church was shabby. But this don't make it so. There are other shabby people besides county editors. We point with pride to the records of the penitentiary, which show that there is not a single editor in it, but on the other hand several preachers are among the gang. Then again, a so-called preacher was sent here and paid, some time ago, to show the people the way to heaven, who stayed out so late at night that his wife got jealous of him. Another parted a man and his wife. So you see there are shabby preachers as well as shabby editors.

Another wedding will take place in Dahlonega soon.

Col. and Mrs. J. H. Moore returned from Nashville yesterday. The holidays of the N. G. A. College begin Dec. 20th and end Jan. 5th.

Gen. Warner and his wife visited Gainesville this week. Also Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Moore.

The city registration book closes next Saturday night. Go out and register if you haven't.

There was such a little demand for liquor last Monday that a blockader had to carry some of his back.

A lady at Buckhead, Ga., in renewing her subscription writes, "I like the Nugget. I can't hardly get along without it."

As we go to press we learn by phone that the appropriation of $10,000 for the Dahlonega college passed the senate. Three cheers.

The boys who got tight last Sunday and went out to the falls and threw some of Mr. C. M. Moore's nails into the creek, stood on dangerous ground.

Mr. J. T. Miller of Auraria, will make it to your interest to trade with him. Look at his prices on meat, coffee and lard. Other articles just as cheap.

Your attention is called to the ad. of Mr. W. B. Gurley who has opened a shop in the Clark house for the purpose of repairing furniture, upholstering, etc.

At a meeting of the North Georgia Electric and Railway Cos. in Gainesville last Tuesday it was decided to go right ahead with the work of both.

All of our subscribers whose times expired on the 4th renewed their subscriptions except two. Those who continued have our thanks as well as the two who didn't, for the patronage they have given us in the past.

For Xmas goods go to T. J. Smith and Bros. Such as oranges, coconuts, raisins, English walnuts, etc. Will also have a full line of fire works. Candy for all at 20 cents per box 2 1/2 pounds in a box.

A new plan is being adopted by the Methodist church this year about the preacher's salary. The deacons are seeing what each member is willing to subscribe for this purpose just like any other business transaction.

The Ashley school house, across the Chestatee river, was supplied with new benches this week by Mr. W. J. T. Hutcheson of Auraria. Other school houses are being supplied with these comfortable benches as fast as possible.

All persons indebted to E. E. Crisson, either by note or account, are requested to call at my store and settle, either with Mr. J. E. Wilkins or myself. Will save a cost bill by doing so.

E. E. CRISSON.

A musical concert will be given at the college chapel next Saturday night by Miss Wood, who will be assisted by Mr. Geo. McDaniel of Atlanta. Admission 10 and 25 cents. Proceeds to be given Corona Society after expenses are deducted.

It is said that two of the colored sisters fought near their church (Methodist) Sunday about dark. The new pastor had paid them his first visit, preached at noon and the born had blown for him to begin again. They wanted to show him their womanhood and amuse the crowd between services.

Dolls and toys have arrived. China will come later. Pure apple vinegar 38c. Full cream cheese 20c. Yard wide percale 10c. Beautiful flannel 14c. Good heavy outing 10c. Now is a good time to buy your winter shoes. We sell them cheap for cash. Come and see our Christmas goods before they are picked over. Bed blankets 75, 95 and 98c. A nice line of calico and checks.

B. R. MEADERS & SONS.

Mining Notes.

A right nice lot of ore was taken from the shaft on the Capps property this week.

All the foundation of the dam at the Gorge is in and now the work is above the water which will not be retarded unless much rain falls. And that already done has been made perfectly secure so as not to be damaged by freshets.

The machinery of the Crown Mountain plant has been rubbed up this week so as to be ready to start just as soon as the water gets strong enough to keep it moving without any delay. Our citizens are all anxious to see this valuable mine in operation again.

Work was commenced on the dredge boat of Messrs. Ingersoll, Crisson and Keenun last Monday by Mr. Wm. Ricketts, the contractor. These gentlemen have many years of practical experience in mining in this country and understand what they are doing.

Last week the city was visited by capitalists from New York, Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois, North Carolina and even Florida, which shows that the mines of this section are attracting a good deal of attention, and by the time spring opens we look for a big revival in the business.

The work on the canal and reservoir of the Briar Patch Company is moving along slowly, but surely. After Christmas they will increase their force and get a different move on them. This is a great gold mine and no one in this country has the least doubt about its paying handsome profits.

Work is progressing down at the Standard about as usual. Several who having leases on different portions of the property are doing well and it is generally supposed that the company is doing likewise. The president of the company, who has been expected here for some days, has not arrived yet.

Mr. Maxwell has suspended work in the lower levels of the Lockhart until such time as he may install concentrators, as the ore is very heavily sulphuretted, and he says he is not inclined to empty a hundred dollars a day into the Yahooola. He is breaking ore in the 700 foot tunnel under Findley Ridge, and from the way it pans, it will pay well.

Col. Jones, who visited the Cavender's Creek mine the other day and looked over the property in company with Col. Hart, was well pleased with what he saw. We understand that active work will commence at the mine the first of next month by cutting the canal already surveyed, putting up a suitable mill and many other needed improvements on this valuable property.

The shaft at the copper mines in this county, is now over 85 feet deep and the ore is splendid. It will be driven to a depth of 200 feet before any spring commences. In the spring a large force of hands will be added. Both quantity and quality are perfectly satisfactory and in the near future it will be one of the biggest operations in this whole country, and eventually hundreds of hands will be required to operate the mine. A thorough test has already been made. Steam drills have been used in testing the property in many places to a great depth, and ten years ago 200 tons of ore were hauled to the railroad and shipped off for a test. Its owners are perfectly familiar with what there is in store for them. A party of gentlemen were expected up this week to see about the railroad, which is to be built to connect the mine with the Gainesville and Dahlonega Electric line.

WANTED.—Will pay spot cash for twenty-five good mules. TATE, LITTLEFIELD & CO. AND ANDERSON & JONES.

The city council committee in the case of Mrs. Findley vs. the city for damages reported unfavorable for the defendant.

Sovey—Miller.

Friends of the contracting parties were much surprised to learn of the marriage in Atlanta, Thursday evening last, of Mr. C. S. Sovey of Astoria, Oregon, to Miss Anna Miller. The bride is the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Miller of Auraria and numbers her friends by those who know her.

Miss Miller is a young lady of exceptional grace, highly educated, refined and practical as well. Mr. Sovey is one of the lessees of the Barlow and largely interested in the Briar Patch. He is a thorough business-man, a polished gentleman and a desirable acquisition to Dahlonega society.

Mr. and Mrs. Sovey are now in Kansas City but will shortly return to make Dahlonega their home, where a hearty welcome awaits them.

RHEUMATISM CURED AT LAST.

Good News For All Who Suffer With Rheumatism Free.

To all who suffer with Rheumatism I will gladly send free the wonderful story of how my mother was cured after years of suffering, together with the most elaborate treatise on Rheumatism ever published. "No matter what your form of Rheumatism is, whether acute, chronic, muscular, inflammatory, degenerative, neuralgic, gout, rheumatic, etc.—no matter how many doctors have failed in your case—no matter how many so-called "bone cures" you have tried—I want you to write to me and let me tell you how mother was cured. I am neither a Doctor nor a Professor—simply a plain man of business—but I have a CURE for Rheumatism, and I want to tell everyone who suffers with Rheumatism all about it. I wish to be clearly understood, and trust that all who are suffering with this terrible disease, however apparently beyond the reach of cure, will write to me this day and I will send you by return mail this work of mine. I appeal especially to the "chronically ill" who are wearied and discouraged with "doctors" and to those who have been cast aside as "incurable." All you have to do about Rheumatism may be wrong. Let me tell you our experience. Surely, if you have Rheumatism, or a sore, a swelling, a break, it will pay you to investigate my offer, anyway, and prove for yourself these claims I make. Send me your address today—a postal card will do—and I will send you this wonderful story. If you have any friends suffering with Rheumatism no matter where located, send me their address, and I will mail them a copy. My address is VICTOR RANDOLPH, Birmingham, Ind.

Said About 'Advertising.

Daily advertising is to business what daily bread is to mankind. Advertising is an active advance agent at the command of all who seek success in business.

There is no dealer but that has something in stock which he can make prominent. If it be not novel, it may be made attractive by its reasonable price.

Men do not catch fish by staying at home and looking out upon the water. Merchants who seek to catch trade must get out and hostile for it. Advertising enables them to enter all homes and have a fair hearing wherever they go.

Continuous advertising creates confidence. The Prevailing opinion is that one that cannot be constantly before the public without being found out and known for what he is. The people believe in a man who can stand trial by the public.

The long winded preacher talks tales to empty benches. The advertisement that is long strong appeals only to lazy people who have nothing to do and nothing to buy. The ceaseless activity of this age calls for sharp, incisive and well pruned advertisements.—Printers Ink.

Make Every Day Count.

The man who starts out in the morning with a determination to do something during the day that will amount to something, that will be distinctive, that will have individuality, that will give him satisfaction at night, is a great deal less likely to waste his day in frivolous, unproductive work than the man who starts out with no plan.

Begin every day, therefore, with a program, and determine that, let what will come, you will carry it out as closely as possible. Follow this up persistently, day by day, and you will be surprised at the result.

Make up your mind at the very outset of the day, and you will accomplish something that will amount to something, that you will not allow callers to chip away your time, and that you will not permit the little annoyances of your business spoil your day's work. Make up your mind that you will be larger than the trifles which cripple and cramp mediocre lives, and that you will rise above petty annoyances and interruptions and carry out your plans in a large and commanding way.

Make every day of your life count for something, make it tell in the grand results, not merely as added day, but as an added day well achieved.—O. S. Marden in December Success.

Free Newspaper List.

Why should people look for free newspapers any more than they look for free cigars, free umbrellas, free walking sticks, free collars, free cuffs or free beefsteaks? Every copy of newspaper is a product which costs money. The tailor, the tobaccoist, the gent's furnisher or the grocer is not called upon to supply free copies of the products which they handle.

The people who are aggrieved if they cannot get a free copy of a newspaper would not think of struggling for a place on the free list of a grocery store, a dry goods or butcher's shop. It is the principle more than the cost of the free newspaper idea which is repugnant at all sound business notions. There is scarcely a newspaper in the country which does not maintain a free list for the benefit of people who are well able to pay and who would not think of accepting from their grocer or butcher or baker the handout which they expect from their favorite newspaper office.—Evening Telegram, Toronto.

The Constitution speaks of a monster turnip in Atlanta weighing 21 pounds. The farmer who raised it has a large field that will average in weight 18 or 20 pounds apiece.

Some Don'ts.

Don't overdraw or underdraw. Don't contradict people, even if you're sure you are right.

Don't be inquisitive about the affairs of even your most intimate friend.

Don't underrate anything because you don't possess it.

Don't believe that everybody else in the world is happier than you.

Don't conclude that you have never had any opportunities in life.

Don't go natively on the plea that everybody knows you.

Don't repeat gossip, even if it does interest a crowd.

Atlanta News. Is there a bug which breathes hot air, lives among live coals and gambols, unsingled, among the flames of sawmill slab pits. An employee on the Southern Bell shops, wagged $20 recently that there was such insect. The state entomologist was appealed to settle the wager. He wrote a letter, which was printed in The News the other day, stating that in all his wide and varied experience he had never met such a bug. The bug's sponsor paid the $20.

But now a new and unexpected champion of the bug has appeared. A gentleman of Douglas has written that the Southern Bell employee really won his bet after all. In a letter, printed in Wednesday's News, he affirms that such a bug does exist, in terms as positive as were the entomologist's in denial. Furthermore, he says that all sawmill men are familiar with the insect, and he will be pleased to show the state entomologist thousands of them, rollicking among the flames with the same sang froid the Hebrew children displayed in the fiery furnace.

Saved

From Death After Four Years

Of Nervous Prostration and Debility.

Dr. Miles' Nerve Cure Me Permanently.

Nervous prostration is the most serious of nervous disorders. It arises from some extra strain, which robs the nerves of strength, vitality and life. The patient speedily loses self control, is subject to frequent headaches, faint spells, melancholia and morbid tendencies. Too weak to strain the body, the body around, unable to sleep or rest, life seems scarcely worth the living; the mind frequently broods until it becomes unbalanced and insanity often results. Read what Dr. Miles' Nerve Cure did for Mrs. Grubbs. "I was terribly afflicted with nervous trouble for nearly four years. I was so bad at times that I could not help myself, nor carry a chair across the room without giving out. One physician attended me for five years and I had without giving me any help whatever and I also doctored with two others without any good results. My father and others wished me to try Dr. Miles' Nerve Cure, after lots of coaxing I did. Took six bottles of the Nerve Cure and some of the Nerve and Liver Pills and am fully convinced that Dr. Miles' Remedies saved my life.—Mrs. HATTIE GRUBBS, Roscoe, Va.

FOR HARNESS and Saddle Girth Mexican Mustang Liniment is just what you need. It takes effect at once, and you will be astonished to see how quickly it heals sores.

It's this way:

You can burn yourself with Fire, with Powder, etc., or you can scald yourself with Steam or Hot Water, but there is only one proper way to cure a burn or scald and that is by using Mexican Mustang Liniment.

It gives immediate relief. Get a piece of soft old linen cloth, saturate it with this liniment and bind loosely upon the wound. You can have no adequate idea what a certain remedy this is for a burn until you have tried it.

A FOWL TIP. If you have a bird afflicted with Rump or any other poultry disease use Mexican Mustang Liniment. It is called a fowl tip because it cures poultry diseases.

THE GOLDEN CITY.

A Brief Glance at Dahlonega and the People I Met.

Dahlonega, the county seat of Lumpkin, Ga., situated among the mountains, at an altitude of twenty-two hundred feet, has a wide notoriety, on account of the North Georgia Agricultural College being located here. The rich gold fields that surround the town have brought—and is still bringing—hundreds of capitalists from the north to invest here. There are at present half a dozen prominent men here from Ohio and Ill. in the Hall's Villa hotel, who are here for the purpose of investing in mining properties and prospecting through this section.

Dahlonega has a population of the twelve hundred and is located in the 9th Congressional and 80 second Senatorial District. The town has a bank, doing a splendid business, two newspapers, seven lawyers, four physicians, and about twenty houses of general merchandise. From the Hon. Rufus H. Baker, Dahlonega's popular mayor and a distinguished lawyer, I learned that the administration of city affairs is conducted more economically than any town in Ga., and the rate of taxation for city and county purposes is 68 cents on the $100. Thirty cents of this amount goes for the maintenance of the excellent Graded school at Dahlonega, which is very ably conducted by Prof. Martin, a graduate of the Peabody Normal, at Asheville, Tenn. A part of the remaining 38 cents is used for the liquidation of the bonded indebtedness, which leaves just 29 cents for the expenses of the town.

Hon. Rufe Baker, the big fine-looking Mayor of Dahlonega, was born in North Carolina, in 1854, July 21st. He has lived thirty years in Dahlonega, read law with Col. W. P. Price and was admitted to the bar in 1877. Col. Baker is a shining light at the Georgia bar. He has been U. S. Commissioner ten years, and a mayor one year. His friends declare he is making a splendid mayor. He is an enthusiast on the subject of education and the future prosperity of his town.

Atlanta bragged itself into prosperity, with some lying thrown in. If anything in that town was fifty, they always swore it was a hundred, and so on. Notwithstanding all this, Memphis knocked out both Atlanta and Nashville in population in the last census.

Dahlonega furnishes very fine educational facilities. I am informed that the people of the town are hard to please and very critical, much to their credit. It speaks well for their cultivation. College towns usually have excellent society. There really should be but one aristocracy, that of intellect.

I had the pleasure of meeting, in his office, Col. H. D. Ingersoll, one of the most influential and prominent citizens of Dahlonega, who came south in 1867, and located in White county and engaged in gold mining. Sixteen years ago he cast his fortunes with Dahlonega and has given material aid to the development of the town and largely interested in gold mining in Lumpkin county. He was connected with the Hand Gold Mining Co. Col. Ingersoll was born near Gloucester, Mass., in 1841, and educated at Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass. He was a gallant soldier in the Union army. Went out in Co. F, 47th Mass. Vol's, in 1863, commanded by Col. Marsh.

Went with Gen. Banks' expedition to New Orleans, where Col. Ingersoll was appointed 1st Lieut. of Engineers, where he had command of the Company part of the time. He had chills and fever and had to come home. Afterward in the 50th Mass. Vol's and wounded at Petersburg. The 50th Mass. was reduced from nine hundred men to sixty-eight in less than three months. The Grater was the most terrific battle of them all when the 40th lost so heavily. Briefly, this is the war record of one of the leading citizens of Dahlonega.

In Col. Ingersoll's office I met Mr. George E. Strickland, a "promoter" of public enterprises, from Louisville, Ky. He is accompanied by Mr. Almy, from Ky. General Corbin, Adj. General of U. S., married a sister of Mr. Strickland, his first wife, whose father was Abram Strickland of Ohio.

The surroundings of Dahlonega are very romantic. The high altitude and bracing atmosphere leaves no place for malaria. Just west until that electric road is completed from here to Gainesville and then the town will hum. Everybody is looking forward to the time of its completion, which will be in twelve more months.

The Bank of Dahlonega has done a fine business from its organization, July 4, 1900, which was started as a private bank, and last May converted into a state bank with a capital of $30,000, surplus and undivided profits $2,000. The bank has a burglar proof safe and patent screw door. All the furnishings are handsome and up to date, so is the cashier, Mr. H. B. Crawford. The bank, owing to its able management, has made a success from its earliest start. The stock is owned by John H. Carter, president of the Bank of Blue Ridge, O. R. Duersee of Blue Ridge and H. B. Crawford the cashier. Mr. Crawford was in the mercantile business at Blue Ridge and a popular drummer from Atlanta for Moore & Marsh and John Silvey.

In my various wanderings from up and down on the face of the earth, I have reserved to myself the privilege of writing about the people I meet. Gen. A. J. Warner is one of the most conspicuous figures in all this country about whom centralizes a good deal of interest. He really came south for his health, but is developing water power and is interested in the building of the electric road to Gainesville. Gen. Warner was born in Western, N. Y., near Buffalo, in 1834, educated at Deloit, Wis. and Cornell University. He spent a large part of his life in Wis. and Ill. He commanded the 10th Pa' in the army of the Potomac. Was wounded at Antietam and Gettysburg. He served in congress three terms. Was elected in 1878, from the Marietta District, Ohio, and again elected in 1884 and served till 1889. Mining and building railroads is his forte.

Capt. W. M. Rex, superintendent of the Dahlonega Consolidated Gold Mining Co., has had varied experiences for a man so young. He has mined in Alaska and all over the west. He is but little over thirty. He came south nearly three years ago and has been superintendent one year. This company employed—about three years ago—about five hundred hands. I know but little of the out-put.

Mr. T. F. Jackson, a prominent member of the city council, and member of the firm of J. F. Moore & Co., one of the largest and most successful business houses in Dahlonega, was born in Lumpkin county in 1863, and educated at the N. G. A. College. Has been a member of the council two years. I am sorry not to have seen Mr. Moore, who is largely interested in gold mining.

The Union Store does a fine business. Reese & Price have a very handsome store, beautifully furnished inside. Lumpkin needs a new court house. The present one is very shabby. Post Master W. H. C. Tate, office 4th-class, is an appointee of President McKinley. Was ordinary of Lumpkin county four years. Has made a good public servant.

Hall's Villa hotel, managed by Hon. J. F. Castleberry, ex-member of the Georgia senate, is a good hotel, where you get good food and polite attention. Mr. Castleberry was born near Dahlonega, in 1845. Elected to the senate 1898, and while there was on several important committees. He has been four years in the hotel business and is a popular landlord.

The Dahlonega "Nugget" is the official organ of the county. I am told that both papers, the Nugget and the Signal are widely read in Ohio, on account of the mining interests.

Mr. Townsend, editor and owner of the Nugget, has brought his paper to a high standard of excellence. He took the paper six years ago, without a single subscriber, and by persistent labor has built it up to its present state. I wish the Nugget and Dahlonega all the prosperity and good luck that can come to mortals.

One of the grandest men and most lovable characters in all this county is Col. Price. No body never mentions his name without praise.

Mrs. Mary T. Whitson. Dahlonega, Ga., Dec. 4, 1902. Advises The Judge.

Jim Webster, a colored gentleman, was brought up before a western judge for fowl stealing. After the evidence had been given, the justice, with a perplexed look, said: "But I do not understand, Webster, how it was possible for you to steal those fowls when they were roosting right under their owner's window and there were two vicious dogs in the yard." "If wouldn't do yer a bit of good, judge, for me to splain how I catshed 'em chickens, for yer couldn't do it yerself if yer tried it forty times, and yer'd get yer hide full o' buckshot. Do best way for you to do judge, is fer yer to buy yer chickens in der market, likeadder folks do, and, when yer wants to commit any rascality, do it on de bench, whar yer are at home."

Sermon on a Dollar Bill. George Plum, who has a cigar store in Rahway, N. J., recently found he had taken in a dollar bill from some customer unknown to him. The bill, which was well worn, bore the following inscription on the back in a masculine, scholarly handwriting: "This is the last dollar I have to my name out of $10,000 left me by my uncle. Would give warning to young men, 'Let drink alone.' It has been my ruin. May this dollar finish its life differently than I have mine."

The editors of the American Herald soliloquize thus: It doesn't require a man of brains to be a big potato in politics these days. If you have money and a pull you don't need anything but cheek. The days of Hill, Toombs and Stephens have passed. Any little old thing is a statesman in Georgia.

The legislature adjourned at 2:45 o'clock Saturday morning, after a row in the house between representative Knight of Berrien and doorkeeper Robson. Several of the members mounted the tops of desks, one with cane in his hand, presenting a beautiful scene for law makers.

The street car line is moving on. The track has been laid through the square on Main and Washington streets. As soon as Green street is reached it is the purpose of the management to run the south end of the line out Railroad Avenue to the crusher, so that as soon as the current is turned on the cars can run from the depot to the square and the car company can have room for macadamizing the street. Then the line will be pushed forward to New Holland. The company has received six cars from Atlanta to be used for excursion occasions and as trailers. Brand new cars are being built for the regular service.—Eagle.

DAHLONEGA

May be the First Town in the World Heated by Electricity.

While the use of electricity for power and light has made vast strides in the last ten years, the use of electricity for heating purposes has not kept pace with its use for power and light. While some electric cars and isolated houses have been heated by electric appliances, no attempt has been made as yet to heat a whole town with electricity. But recently a town in Switzerland, with a population of from 5000 to 6000 people, has taken steps to develop a water power some twelve miles away, for the purpose of furnishing the town with power for operating railroads, for manufacturing purposes, and for lighting and heating all the houses in the town. Thus within the next two or three years this novel mode of furnishing heat to a whole town will become a reality.

When the Crown Mountain Gold Mining and Milling Company has completed the development of its Gorge Power, it will have, with this and its Seabolt Power, an excess of power during the season of high water. The power used to generate electricity can then be easily transformed into light and heat. The loss of transforming electric energy into heat is much less than in transforming it into light. After the development of these powers there will be nothing in the way of furnishing every house in Dahlonega with electric heat during the winter months, and also sufficient heat for cooking purposes in the summer. With the Electric Road through to Dahlonega and this mode of heating the town, Dahlonega will become a most desirable place to live in, both summer and winter, and as healthy a resort as can be found in the South.

The story from Arizona telling how the Yaqui Indians recently cut off the feet of a captured American scout, and then by goading him, compelled him to walk until he collapsed died, brings to public attention a species of torture so shocking as to call forth the terms "unheard of" and "unparalleled." There is a parallel, however, in ancient history if not in modern. The probabilities are that there are more parallels than one, for there is little in the cruelty or of kindness still left to be invited. We refer to the revenge taken upon Greek prisoners by the Persians as the latter retreated eastward and were finally chased by Alexander across the Oxus. The Greek conquerors were filled with horror and grief to find the highway strewn with their comrades, in many cases still alive, though with both hands and feet cut off.—Macon Telegraph.

The American Times Recorder very correctly says that it is better to remain on a farm and be independent and self sustaining than to quit work, go to town and hunt "a position."

Expenditures Reach a Total of $3,802,780.

The principal items of the appropriations bill as perfected by the legislature and which hold for two years are as follows:

Pensions
Indigent veterans	$410,000
Disabled veterans	185,000
Widows	185,000
Indigent widows	90,000
Total	$870,000
Public school	800,000
State sanitarium for the insane	325,000
For interest on public debt (1903)	320,500
For interest on public debt (1904)	316,080
Executive department, including supreme court judges and state house officers about	182,000
Legislative expenses and salaries of members, about	70,000
Technological school	45,000
School for the deaf	27,500
Georgia Normal and Industrial college	22,900
State normal school	22,500
University of Georgia	22,500
Military fund	20,000
Public buildings and grounds	18,500
Academy for the blind	18,000
Soldiers' home	12,500
North Georgia Agricultural college	10,000

Total appropriations for all purposes $3,802,780. This total includes $750,000 from specific taxes and other sources appropriated by previous statute to the common schools in addition to the sum for schools named in the bill.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

What our Girls are Doing for Them.

EDITOR NUGGET:

The following letter from the young girls at Grove School, No. 18, is the first report I have received from the several committees I appointed two weeks ago. I am expecting other reports shortly. It will not be long before our Public School Houses will equal any in the United States for beauty.

ARROW DAY, Dec. 9, 1902.
Col. W. P. PRICE, Sr.,
We, the committee, met at Grove School House, No. 18, for the purpose of cleaning off the ground and planting trees and flowers. We also agreed to meet Friday after Christmas and finish the work. The trees and other things we put out on Arrow Day are as follows:
Eight maples, 3 rose bushes, 1 snow ball, 2 lilacs, 3 mulberries, 2 prince alberts, 2 cedars, 2 blooming dog woods, 1 sycamore, 2 hollies, 3 English poplars, 1 Crab apple.

Committee:
MATTIE SUTTERFIELD, Ch.
TATIANA LANE, Sec.
BELLE WEST.
MAGGIE EDWARDS.
FLORENCE SCOTT.
TINY LINGERFELT.

The foregoing letter is indeed gratifying, and I will send a copy of it to the Youth's Companion, Boston, Mass.

W. P. PRICE, Sr.
President B'd of Edu.

It does not seem to us that the legislature has much reason to congratulate itself upon its work for its first session, because it has arranged to have three sessions, instead of two. It was hoped it would see its way clear to submitting to the people a constitutional amendment providing biennial sessions. They would approve such an amendment. We don't know exactly what the cost of a session is, but it must be a good many thousands of dollars. The state could get along, as most of the other states do, with one session in two years. Georgia is going to give three sessions in two years a trial first however.—Savannah News.

Outside of the general tax act and appropriation bill, only two or three general bills succeeded in passing both houses of the legislature as follows: To tax franchise, general tax act, general appropriation bill, providing for summer sessions, protecting tarapins and oysters and prevent adulteration of Georgia cane syrup.

The Philadelphia Press is coming to the conclusion that we are all human. It has found that lynching bees and parties formed to administer a coat of tar and feathers are not confined to the south. The further discovery is made by the same paper that those who took part in the little entertainments are not punished either in Massachusetts or Ohio.—Savannah Press.

Mr. Porter, who it was thought was burned in the recent fire at Atlanta, was not in it.

They are aiming to turn the current on the Chestatee electric plant Friday.

Mining Notes.

Some work is being done on the Free Jim lot now, in the edge of town.

Mr. Wm. Snee, of Pittsburg, Pa., was here last week getting ores from the different mines to make a test on a new gold saving process, which he thinks will get it all practically.

Mr. Maxwell has gone to North Carolina to examine some mining property and make a report upon the same and will return to the gold fields of Dahlonega in two or three days.

The Hager dredge boat, which has been hung up so long for the want of water to move it from its dry resting place on the Chestatee river, has been repaired and put in operation again.

A gentleman came in first of the week and took some ore out of the bottom of a shaft on the Capps property for a test, with an eye we suppose of working it if the ore is as good as reported.

It was the intention of the contractor to commence on the new dredge boat for Messrs. Ingersoll, Crison and Keenum last week, but the lumber contractor failed to come to time on his part.

Down at the Barlow the long track was completed last week and now the ore from the cut can be run down in hand cars and dumped into the mill at a very small cost. If this does not supply the mill fast enough the cars will be run by horse power.

The last clean up at the Turkey Hill mine was a good one. As some parts of the pump are considerably worn all the necessary repairs will be made good during the holidays, so as to have everything in tip top shape at the beginning of the new year.

The Crown Mountain Gold Mining Co. has commenced work again. One cut is being operated and it is thought they will be able to run the other two remaining cuts in a short while. As we have had some rain and the indications good for more power, this being the only obstacle in the way of operating the plant, the outlook for this company is quite flattering. The managers feel confident that by the time the dry season begins next summer the new Gorge will be ready to supply ample power.

PROFIT

The matter of feed is of tremendous importance to the farmer. Wrong feeding is loss. Right feeding is profit.

The up-to-date farmer knows what to feed his cows to get the most milk, his pigs to get the most pork, his hens to get the most eggs. Science.

But how about the children? Are they fed according to science, a bone food if bones are soft and undeveloped, a flesh and muscle food if they are thin and weak and a blood food if there is anemia?

Scott's Emulsion is a mixed food; the Cod Liver Oil in it makes flesh, blood and muscle, the Lime and Soda make bone and brain. It is the standard scientific food for delicate children.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, DECEMBER 18, 1902

Judge Huff, spent a day or so in White county last week.

The little one-year-old child of Mr. John Baker died in Dahlonega last Thursday.

The new college paper is out again as bright and newsy as the first issue.

Bear in mind that Mr. John Hatfield keeps all kinds of fire works and many other nice things for Christmas.

Mr. J. F. Bruce, fell from a scaffold down at the Barlow mine last Thursday and was painfully but not seriously hurt.

Lieuts. Harris and Price, former Dahlonega cadets, now in the U. S. Army, will be sent to the Philippines in February.

Miss Mamie Gaston, after some two weeks visit to relatives at Dahlonega, returned to her home in Gainesville last Sunday.

The revenue officers made a trip or two into Dawson county last week but found nothing except the still house or shelter.

Among the list of allowed pensioners here last week by the state was Mrs. Nancy Chapman, who we learned died near three weeks ago.

WANTED.—Will pay spot cash for twenty-five good mules.

TATE, LITTLEFIELD & CO.
AND ANDERSON & JONES.

A married man got a sweet lick from his wife the other morning but not a love lick. She got mad and picked up a partly filled syrup pitcher and struck him on the head with it.

Mr. John L. Edge, of White county, came down Saturday night and subscribed for the NUGGET so as to keep posted about his old home county—Lumpkin. Notwithstanding the dry weather Mr. Edge made 500 bushels of corn this year.

The special meeting of the faculty of the college last week made it quite interesting to some of the cadets. One was given demerits and reduced to ranks while another was allowed to withdraw to keep from being expelled, proving that it is always best to walk the chalk line.

Gordon Rice, and Ollie Jones engaged in a little tussle out at Mr. Cannon's store Friday evening, and in the whirl Ollie's head came in contact with the glass window cutting his face in several places causing blood to flow from the wounds freely for awhile, but nothing serious.

Last Friday down on the Wimpy mill road a man and woman, supposed to be under the influence of liquor lost all respect and conducted themselves in such a manner as to make them fit subjects for the chain gang, proving that the foreign missionary people can find subjects nearer home.

Will Cannon, col., the negro from Habersham county, who it will be remembered gave Ben Elrod such a severe beating in Dahlonega recently because he visited his wife in his absence, is wanted in his home county, charged with assault and battery, and sheriff Davis armed with a warrant from Habersham executed it last week and put William in jail until an officer came after him.

Persons wishing pensions will save time and trouble by reading the following instructions sent to Judge Huff last week: "Ordinaries nor applicants must not send to this office any new application or amended application to be considered before May 1st, 1903. They will lay in this office, undisturbed, until after that date. From May 1st, 1903, to September 15th, 1903, will be devoted exclusively to examining and passing on all classes of applications and preparing roll for 1904, closing this part of work on October 1st, 1903."

Farmers could only get 55 cents per bushel here for meal last Friday.

Charlie Thomas is here from Anniston, Ala., to spend Christmas with home folks.

Col. J. H. Moore returned to Nashville last Thursday to be gone until after Christmas.

FOR RENT.—Store house and dwelling on public square.

BANK OF DAHLONEGA.

Mr. John H. Moore is going to repair the old Simmons building and move his market into it by the first of January.

Col. W. P. Price returned from Atlanta last Saturday where he had spent several days on business. One important matter being the N. G. A. College.

Mr. John H. Moore purchased three hundred and twenty-three dollars worth of hogs, sheep and beef for his market in two days last week which shows that the people are generally healthy and able to eat.

Mr. John B. Cain, another one of Lumpkin old residents, died at his home within a few miles of Dahlonega last Thursday night. He was among the number who went from this place to California when the gold excitement broke out there.

A friend and patron in Ohio sends us a postal card which he received from an editor marked "personal." He says it is the first "personal" card he ever saw and writes us asking if we ever did before. We never did and have filed it away to keep it as a curiosity.

Jim Gooch, of Dawson county, was tried and acquitted here last Friday by Com. Baker, who was charged with illicit distilling. A man was run out of an illicit stillery in that county some time ago believed to be Jim, but the officials were not positive that it was him.

Some applicants for pensions in Lumpkin county have been turned down the 4th time, and in order to convince them that they are not entitled Mr. Lindsey has carefully investigated their claims and find that more than one deserted and marked it so there will be no further trouble hereafter.

Last Friday a telephone message was received from Anderson, S. C., requesting a grave to be dug for James T. Watkins by the side of his first wife here. As no one knew anything about him or his relatives the operator replied that there must be some mistake and nothing more has been heard about it.

The amount of state pension money received in Lumpkin county is $4,510, as follows: Seventeen disabled soldiers $790. Forty indigent soldiers $2,400. Seventeen widows $1,020. Five indigent widows $300. Total 79. These figures are taken from the state pensioners report ending October 2, 1902. The total amount paid out in different counties in the state is $822,095.

As it has been the custom in this country ever since we can remember for newspaper men to rest during the Christmas holidays. We have decided not to break the rule and with this issue of the NUGGET wind up our labors for the year 1902. The next issue of the paper will appear on the first day of January. Thanking you for the liberal patronage we have received and wishing all a merry Christmas we now bid you adieu.

Pension papers received from Com. Lindsey by the ordinary of this county last week show the following: Disallowed and returned: D. M. Davis, C. E. Edge, W. A. Free, E. P. Hyden, J. L. Rider, Jephtha J. Shed, R. F. N. Gittens and J. W. Walden. Disallowed and filed: J. B. Housley, J. W. Smith, M. M. Grizzle and Sarah Wilson. Allowed, disabled: G. L. Gamlin. Indigent: W. M. Armstrong, E. L. Rickets. Indigent widows: Laura Awtry and Nancy Chapman.

Houses to rent by M. J. Williams.

Christmas turkeys are going at from 75 cents to one dollar.

Rev. W. H. McAfee returned last week from a ten days trip to Atlanta.

Last Monday was a cold rainy day and blockade liquor found a ready sale.

Mr. Ralph Wyile, an old Dahlonega student, died in Los Angeles, Cal., last Thursday.

All kinds of fur skins will be purchased here by
M. J. WILLIAMS.

Visitors to Dahlonega will find the Tate House a good place to stop at. Rates reasonable.

Judge J. B. Gaston, of Gainesville, came up on a visit to his parents here last Saturday.

The registration book of the city closed here last Saturday night and 134 name appeared on the list.

Be patient. We believe the year 1903 will be a prosperous one for the people of Dahlonega and Lumpkin county.

When you come to town drop in and subscribe for the NUGGET and have a paper of your own and not depend on borrowing.

"Bart" Tolbert got hold of some bad whiskey Saturday and it caused him to get into the lock up a short while that night.

The college cadets will mostly if not all, return to their homes this week to spend the holidays. We wish them all a safe journey, a pleasant time and a sure return.

Mayor Baker stated to the public last night that at the end of the year the city would be out of debt and have some money in the treasury.

Mr. Loveless of this place, has gone to North Carolina to take charge of a gold mine. This old miner is perfectly reliable and will please his employers beyond a doubt.

Maj. Tison, who was commandant of the college cadets awhile here once, now located in Texas, has consented to return to Dahlonega if the war department is willing.

Mr. B. R. Meaders will soon leave for the lower market with a fine lot of good mountain stock, both horses and mules. Other citizens here are also buying up stock for this purpose.

Five dollars reward will be paid for any information leading to the recovery of my steel anvil, which was stolen from my shop at Murrayville, Ga., a short time ago.
D. T. HARRIS.

For Xmas goods go to T. J. Smith and Bros. Such as oranges, coconuts, raisins, English walnuts etc. Will also have a full line of fire works. Candy for all at 20 cents per box 24 pounds in a box.

The last committee appointed to visit the agricultural college is: Messrs. Martin, Chairman, Conner, Leigh, Roundtree, Walker of Monroe, Russel, Doyier, Flynt, Boykin, Griffin, Arnold Peyton, Alexander and Stewart.

J. F. Moore & Co. have all kinds of candies, coconuts, oranges, prunes, and nuts. Also all kinds of ladies work baskets, Remnant bolts something to suit everybody. Trunks and valises, chairs, &c. And a few shot guns left. Call at once.

At last night's mass meeting for the purpose of nominating three aldermen, one from each Ward, Col. R. H. Baker presided and Col. W. S. Huff acted as secretary. There were two tickets nominated resulting as follows: 1st Ward, E. W. Strickland 52, W. J. Hightower 39. 2nd Ward, Geo. Moore 60, T. S. Littlefield 37. 3rd Ward, W. P. Price, Jr. 53, M. J. Williams 42. These gentlemen are all well known to you as good citizens, who will guard the interest of the town with a watchful eye. The election takes place next Saturday.

Miss Bell Therin will go on a visit to relatives in Brunswick this week.

If you need any job work done during the holidays all you have to do is to let us know.

It certainly rained first of the week, stopping all out door work until the sun peeped out from behind the heavy clouds.

Col. S. E. A. Hamby of Clayton, Ga., has been chosen to deliver the annual address before the Decora Society next spring.

The city authorities are preparing to make cases against purveyors who sell extract of lemons and other substitutes for liquor in Dahlonega.

Two parties under the influence of mountain dew last Sunday, tried to fight across Crane's hill for awhile, but after considering the matter decided to postpone it.

Let every body go out and vote for the nominated ticket next Saturday just the same as if only one ticket had been in the field, and all work for the interest of the town.

The Mayor says the weather will have to be damp if he allows any popping of fire crackers in Dahlonega. It is better he thinks to take some of the pleasures of the child away from it than to have the town burned up.

At a special meeting of the council held last Monday night it was decided that the city was not responsible for the damages Mrs. Tilda Findley sustained by falling into a gulley near the Methodist church some time ago.

Ben Elrod, col., for whom a warrant was sworn out by Will Cannon's wife, another negro, is now at Dayton, Tenn. He is at work and the officers are not going to bother him for the thoughts of performing manual labor may cause his death.

Tax collector Wimpy, is here taking in state and county taxes and will close his books next Saturday, and wind up his business as an official. Mr. Wimpy has made a good tax collector by performing his duties as the law directs.

Mr. Wilkey, of Cherokee county, now has charge of the Crown Mountain mill, and Mr. Wallace from the same section, who used to work for the Consolidated, is hold of the electrical power up at the Chestate plant, which runs the entire machinery of the Company here.

One night last week the house and contents of Jess Satterfield, Jr., was destroyed by fire three miles of Dahlonega. Believing that John H. Adams did it, caused him to swear out a peace warrant for him, and John left town before the sheriff had a chance to consult him about the matter.

The public well on the lower side of the court house has afforded more water than any other well in town. All three of the livery stables in town used it for watering purposes, and it never failed during the long dry season. It should be cleaned out and fixed up so people could drink it.

Hon. G. D. Bruce, has returned from the legislature who has been extending the right hand of fellowship to his many friends since his arrival. He has made a faithful servant of the people, and his friends feel proud of his official record while in the discharge of the duties placed upon him.

Hurry up and get your Christmas presents at B. R. Meaders & Sons. They are going fast. Blankets, double, 80 and 95c. Shoes 12c to $3.50, usual price is higher. Raisins, fine, 15c. Oranges, sweet, 25c a dozen. Coconuts, 5 and 10c. Bakers chocolate 45c lb. Nice dishes and some cakes at a bargain.

We were recently asked why we didn't put some money in the bank so as to make our credit good abroad. It may suit some to deposit money and have outstanding debts at home but it doesn't. If a man pays his debts at home there is no trouble for him to get credit elsewhere if he wants it.

Some parties interested in the Briar Patch Mine are expected in today.

Mrs. R. H. Baker and her son, Rufe Ed, left yesterday on a visit to Swainsboro, Ga.

Two young ladies of Dahlonega have decided to get into the matrimonial chariot Christmas.

Only a few more of those bargains in clothing at H. D. Gurleys. If you need a good nice cheap suit now is the time.

There are now 28 men from this county serving out sentences in Fulton county jail for violating the revenue laws.

Mr. Wash Satterfield, who has been up in White county engaged in mining, has returned home to work for the Crown Mountain Co.

A lot of dressed dolls and other Christmas articles left over from last year at H. D. Gurleys which can be purchased from him at absolute cost.

Lost.—Key-ring and chain, with post office key and two small desk keys attached. Person finding same will be rewarded by returning to E. S. Copeland.

Our good old friend Mr. F. S. Packard of Turkey Hill, was in the city yesterday for the first time in two months. He is too busy mining to come to town often.

We want 15 more good mules to finish car load. Will pay liberal cash price for same.

J. M. BROOKSHER,
J. K. McGREE.

Dec. 17, 1902.

Mrs. James Batt of Blairsville, Ga., came in Tuesday to visit her daughter here, Mrs. Frank Jones. And her daughter, Miss Blanche, after a visit of some weeks here, returned to Blairsville yesterday.

Last Tuesday in this county Billie Hester and John Fields had some trouble about the stock law and some hogs, resulting in Billie being cut in the arm and back several times by Fields. Nothing serious.

You will observe that the NUGGET is always battling for the interest of Dahlonega, even asking the people to trade with their own merchants and keep the money at home, when some of these merchants do not patronize us. What more could a newspaper man do?

Mrs. B. R. Meaders has, with the aid of her many friends, presented to the Methodist and Presbyterian churches each, a beautiful silver communion services, worth $30.00. She has been in bed most of the past two years but never loses sight of church work or needs of the poor.

Headquarters at B. R. Meaders & Sons for Santa Clause, has beautiful assortments of all kinds of toys—something never seen before, 2 dolls in one. Nice line of China and glass novelties, from 10 cents up. Albums, toilet cases, 14c. All wool printed flannel, 24c. Oil calico bolts. Come before all gone. Going fast. Come and see. RHEUMATISM CURED AT LAST.

Good News For All Who Suffer With Rheumatism Free.

To all who suffer with Rheumatism I will gladly send free the wonderful story of how my mother was cured after years of suffering, together with the most elaborate treatise on Rheumatism ever published. No matter what your form of Rheumatism is, whether acute, chronic, muscular, inflammatory, deformant, sciatic, neuralgic, gout, lumbago, etc.—no matter how many doctors have failed in your case—no matter how many you called "sore curs" you have tried—I want you to write to me and let me tell you how mother was cured. I am neither a doctor nor a Professor—simply a plain man of business—but I have a CURE for Rheumatism, and I want to tell everyone who suffers with Rheumatism all about it. I wish to be clearly understood, and trust that all who are suffering with this terrible disease, however apparently beyond the reach of cure, will write to me this day and I will send you by return mail this work of mine. I appeal especially to the "chronically ill" who are wearied and discouraged with "doctoring" and to those who have been cast aside as " incurable." All you have thought about Rheumatism may be wrong. Let me tell you your experience. Surely if you have Rheumatism, or have a suffering friend, it will pay you to investigate my offer, anyway, and prove for yourself these claims I make. Send me your address today—a postal card will do—and I will mail you this wonderful story. If you have any friends suffering with this terrible ailment, where located, send me their address, and I will mail them a copy. My full address is VICTOR RAINBOLT, Bloomington, Ind.

Kind Words.

Cultivate kindness of heart; think well of your fellowmen; look with charity upon the shortcomings in their lives; do a good turn for them as often as opportunity offers, and finally, don't forget the kind words at the right time. How much a word of kindness encouragement or appreciation means to others sometimes, and how little it costs to give it! We do not need to wait for some special occasion. When calamity overtakes a friend words of sympathy and encouragement are offered sincerely enough, yet, in certain respects as a matter of course. Such an occasion calls for an expression on our part, and we naturally respond. But why wait for an occasion? Why not speak the kind word when there is no special occasion?

In the course of our lives there must be many times when thoughtless words are spoken by us which wound the hearts of others. And there are also many little occasions when the work of cheer is needed from us, and we are silent.

Law of Selling Wives.

Justice Summerville, at Odin, Ill., has handed down a decision that if a man sells his wife he must "deliver the goods," or he is guilty of obtaining money under false pretences. As to the constitutional right of a man to sell his wife the justice did not pass upon.

The case resulted from a deal made by Mr. Hamilton, of Noble, who sold his wife to Mr. Davenport for $2 cash.

Mrs. Hamilton heard of the bargain and went with Davenport, but left him before night. Davenport had Hamilton arrested and the entire community went to hear the case.

Attorney Olinger, for the defendant argued that a man had a right to sell his wife any time he pleased without a pedler's license. The state contended that if a man sold his wife he must insure delivery. Justice Summerville took the latter view and decided that Hamilton must send back his wife or money, pay the costs and leave town, or he would send him to jail.—St. Paul Globe.

Cats Spoil a Sermon.

Rev. Page Milburn's recent experience while delivering a sermon on the judgment day is being told among his fellow clergymen.

It was a peaceful summer night warm enough to have all the windows open, but not sufficiently hot to cause a fluttering of fans. The reverend gentleman was preaching upon the last solemn moment of judgment day and presenting a graphic word picture of the majestic and triumphant coming of the judgment angel. Extending his arms, he began impressively: "Hark! What is that sound that bursts upon my ear?" The infuriated and appalling yowl of felines in mortal combat on a neighboring fence rent the air.

There was a general titter from the younger folk in the congregation. Thinking to stem the current of amusement by the reproof, the clergyman continued in impressive tones: "Let not our minds be diverted. I say again, what is that solemn sound that bursts upon my ears?" An ear-splitting series of spittings and yowls came in instant rejoinder from the combatants upon the fence. It was too much for the speaker and audience.

"Will the congregation join in the closing hymn?" said the discomfited preacher. And with a speedy benediction the service came to an abrupt conclusion.—Baltimore Sun.

Credited to Missouri.

A Missouri editor who threatens to write an article entitled "Hell and Who Will Be There" has been warned against the publication libelous matter by the entire town.

A Missouri editor who went on a vacation left a minister in charge of his paper. A day or two later a letter from "a wayback" subscriber came, which said: "You know I—d well I paid my subscription the last time I was in your town. If I get any more such letters, I will come down and mail hell out of you." The minister answered, "I have been trying to mail that thing out of the editors for years, and if you really come down and mail it out of him, then, my dear sir, I have twenty members of my church you can operate on."

A Missouri editor apologizes to his readers for the lack of news as follows, which shows the trials to which a country editor is often subject: "We expected to have a marriage and a death notice this week, but a violent storm prevented the wedding, and, the doctor being sick himself, the patient recovered, and accordingly cheated out of both items."—Ex.

A Kansas City Court used drastic means in dealing with a trust. It decided that, trusts being unlawful combinations, nobody owing them money need pay. This decision points out away of dealing with trusts as effective as it is simple. But a few more court decisions like this Kansas City one may cause the trusts to quit-trusting and make us all pay cash in Advance.—Marietta Journal.

Excess

Of Smoking Affected My Heart

So I Had To Sit Up To Breathe.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

There is nothing that has a more deleterious effect upon the cardiac or heart nerves than the excessive use of tobacco. Pain and tenderness around the heart, an oppressive feeling in the chest, choking sensation in the throat, discomfort from sleeping on the left side and smothering spells at night when the sufferer has to sit up in bed to breathe are the most common symptoms of a weak heart. Smokers who feel these symptoms and who do not understand their meaning should be warned in time, by the following experience: "I was greatly troubled, with an affection of the heart, due I think to excessive smoking. On writing to you for advice I was directed to begin a course of treatment, which included Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills, together with bathing, etc. I faithfully followed the directions given and am pleased to say that my cure is complete and permanent. Before beginning the use of your remedies I was so nervous I could not keep my hands still and suffered greatly from severe pains around the heart. Many times at night I would be forced to assume a sitting posture to get my breath, and for the time being it would seem as though my heart had stopped beating. From the splendid results achieved by my cure, I can confidently recommend Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, Restorative Nerve and other remedies to all sufferers from heart or nervous troubles."—Yours truly, HAZEL DOHAN, Ala.
